Federal Beer Inquiry as Farm Relief Measure Looms for Campaign

LEGION GIVES BOOST

Reaction of Politicians Marked by Variety

By JOHN F. CHESTER

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A series of prohibition rumblings precipitated in the capital by word of a new Federal beer inquiry, appeared likely today to echo into 1932.

With the American Legion's vote in favor of a referendum, lending fresh impetus, reaction ranged from praise and condemnation to a proposal that a re-submission plank be placed in the 1932 Democratic platform. Added was a forecast from a dry senator of a lively beer fight in the coming congress.

Senator Bulkley, Democratic anti-prohibitionist from Ohio, suggested that his party agree upon submitting the Eighteenth Amendment to the people rather than argue upon the merits of prohibition. Senator Walsh of Montana forecast agitation for beer legislation in the next congress, known as a constitutional authority, the western Democrat, a dry, gave his opinion that repeal or modification of the Volstead act would not constitute nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Meantime, there was fresh ferment in the disclosure by Secretary Hyde that the effect upon the farmer of legalizing beer would be ascertained.

A government official reported that some beer data already had been gathered by the department of agriculture. These figures, he said, indicated legalizing of brewing might do the farmer more harm than good in that the market for dairy products might be reduced. Data was shown on the increased sale of these products with the coming of prohibition.

Moreover, it was the stated opinion of another high federal executive that talk of legalizing beer—whatever the effect—would never go beyond the conversational stage.

Reactions to the American Legion's referendum proposal were Continued on page two.

FORMER DRY CHIEF INDICTED ON FRAUD

ACCUSED OF FORGERY AND LARCENY IN KOSHER WINE CASE.

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Palmer Canfield former New York state prohibition administrator, was indicted by the New York county grand jury for forgery in the first degree and larceny in the second degree. He was placed under arrest in the district attorney's office.

Canfield, who once was mayor of Kingston, N. Y., an dw ho long has been a prominent figure in Republican politics was indicted for having accepted $25,000 in forged bonds of the New York Central railroad. The bonds were alleged to have been given him for his supposed intercession with the Treasury Department to reinstate the liquor permit of the Strictly Kosher Wine Company of New York City.

One of the witnesses before the grand jury was Louis Schattner, who was the proprietor of the Strictly Kosher Wine Company which was raided by Federal agents on March 16, last, at which time 12,000 gallons of wine was seized and the firm's liquor permit was revoked.

Schattner told the district attorney he had engaged two lawyers who started proceedings to have the property returned and the permit reinstated but they were unsuccessful.

Schattner claims that shortly after the raid Canfield solicited him to permit him to take the matter up with the Treasury Department in Washington. Schattner said he paid Canfield $400 for the latter's expense to Washington.

TREASURY RECEIPTS

Southerner Chosen Legion Commander As Convention Ends

Henry L. Stevens, Jr.—Warsaw, N. C.

Prohibition Referendum Recommendation Is Feature of Conclave

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The American Legion entered a new Legion year today with a new commander and a revised program, which included advocacy of a nationwide referendum on repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment.

The Legion closed a colorful and busy four-day convention yesterday with one of its most stormy sessions of its history as delegates wrangled over the prohibition resolution and a proposal that the organization ask immediate payment of the face value of bonus certificates.

The latter resolution was defeated as a majority of the delegates followed the advice of President Hoover, Director Hines of the Veterans Bureau, and other officials who ask that consideration be given to the condition of the national treasury. A resolution calling on able-bodied veterans to refrain from imposing financial burdens on the government was adopted.

The prohibition discussion—the first ever to come before a Legion convention—centered about the propriety of the Legion declaring itself. Amid cheers and jeers and cries of "we want beer," the opponents declared prohibition was not within the provinces of the Legion, that nothing could be gained by the organization in asking the referendum.

Supporters took the position that conditions under prohibition are such as to justify the Legion's seeking a remedy. They attributed what they termed "gang rule" in some sections to the 18th amendment and maintained that the Legion should take the lead in a campaign for a popular vote. The preamble of the resolution declared that the amendment has "created a condition endangering respect for"

CONFISCATION OF DO-X ASKED

Patents for Mounting of Motors Infringed Is Claim in Suit

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Isaac Schafman and Jacob Thaler began suit in federal court today to have the German flying boat DO-X confiscated on the ground that the owners, operators and builders infringed on patents the plaintiffs held.

General Motors Corporation is named as one of the defendants. The suit, besides demanding confiscation of the giant flying boat, asks for an accounting of profits, a permanent injunction against further infringements on the patents the plaintiffs say they hold, and damages amounting to three times whatever profits the DO-X may have made.

No estimates of the profits is given in the complaint.

With General Motors, the defendants named are the Dornier Company of America, Dornier Metallbau G. M. B. H., Dr. Claude Dornier, Lieut. Clarence Schildhauer, U. S. N., who piloted the DO-X to New York, Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau, and all members of the crew.

Captain Von Gronau has never had anything to do with the DO-X, but on his two flights to America he has flown a Dornier Wal, and the suit charges the patents have been violated in the manufacture of that ship also.

The patents, according to the complaint, involve the mounting of the propellers above the wing. Schafman and Thaler state they are joint owners of the patents, issued December 31, 1918, by the U. S. patent office.

The complaint states infringement has occurred in the design and manufacture of the DO-X, Dornier Wal, Dornier Super-Wal, and Dornier Delphin III. It asks that the DO-X and all other aircraft of the defendants in which the alleged infringement has occurred, now in the country, be turned over to the plaintiffs or destroyed.

Captain Von Gronau's ship is not involved. He sailed for home last week.

The DO-X recently arrived here after a 10 months flight from Europe by way of South America. The journey was one of many mishaps, the ship being partially burned at Lisbon, broken by waves in the Canaries, and hindered almost continuously by unfavorable weather.

The plane, one of the two largest in the world, is now at North Beach Airport, the starting point of the Lindberghs' flight to the Orient. It is pulled up on shore and had its 12 engines removed for repair.

RESCUED ATLANTIC FLIERS TRY TO SMILE AWAY TERRORS' MEMORIES

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—By the margin of a couple of grams of chocolate and a half-pint of water, two aviators arrived today to tell New York how they clung for seven days on the fragile wreckage of a plane in which they had attempted to conquer the Atlantic.

"O. K. boys," yelled Willy Rody, 20-year old "baby" of the intrepid trio as the liner Stavangerford approached its dock.

Those were the only words of English Rody knew and he used them to assure a waiting throng that the ocean's fury had not daunted him and that he was willing to try again.

The other members of the crew of the Junkers plane "Esa" which attempted a non-stop flight from Portugal to New York but landed in the sea after its gasoline was exhausted, were Christian Johansen, of Denmark, who is now a German citizen, and Fernando Costa Velga, Portuguese sportsman. They too tried to dismiss with a smile the horrors they had experienced during their week's wait for succor on the sea.

NAVY ZEPPELIN MAY FLY OVER

48-hour flight Gives Rise to Hope That Test Will Come This Way

When the U. S. S. dirigible Akron, which made its initial flight Wednesday afternoon, makes its 48-hour flight, fifth of the series, within the next week or two, it may pass over this city, or at least over Fayette county.

There is no definite assurance of it coming this way, but there are reasons to believe that it may do so in the two daylight tests to be a part of the tests to which it is subjected before accepted by the U. S. Navy.

Reports indicate that the long flight will carry it over Columbus, and there is also reason to believe that it may pass over Cincinnati, Dayton, and possibly go as far west as Chicago on the test flight, weather permitting.

Should it go to Cincinnati, this city may be on its itinerary.

Flight No. 3 will be made Sunday evening, with the motors running wide open for part of the trip, under present plans.

Flight No. 4 will be a climbing test to determine the ship's characteristics as she climbs into the clouds.

Then comes trial No. 5 a 48-hour test to recapitulate all other tests.

STORM WARNING UP

GERMAN ZEPPELIN HEADS BACK HOME

Pernambuco, Brazil, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin was homeward bound for Friedrichshafen, Germany, today on her 6th crossing of the South Atlantic.

She pulled away from the mooring mast at 3:15 G. M. T. (10:15 p. m. Thursday, E. S. T.) and was soon lost to sight. She arrived here last Sunday after a 70-hour trip and discharged 10 passengers, freight and mail.

Pennsylvania to Hawaii Flight of Toy Balloon

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 25.—(AP)—A toy balloon inflated with gas was released here July 4 and today Miss Erma Jean Shrader, whose name was on the card attached to it, received a letter from Hawaii saying the balloon came down there.

The letter was from Bert J. McGuire, sergeant in Company A, third engineers, U. S. Army, who is stationed at Schfield Barracks, Hawaii. He said he found the balloon unbroken near his station.

Tons Of Surplus Food Saved In Fayette-Co. For Lean Months

A sizeable trainload of canned fruits and vegetables is already packed away in pantries of Fayette county to drive the mythical wolf from the door during the anticipated lean months of winter.

Exact figures on the amount of fruit and vegetables preserved in the county are not available but a casual survey gives a fair sort of indication.

The Washington C. H. Branch of the Midland Grocery Co. has sold to retailers in this territory 22 car loads of cans and jars and the General Grocery branch here has distributed eight, bringing the total at the present time up to 30 car loads. These are, of course, all new and have been used in addition to the carry-over supply of almost every home.

In arriving at the quantity of foodstuffs preserved in used jars and cans the figures of the Midland Grocery Co. branch here are significant—4 car loads of jar caps have been sold to date. Inasmuch as jar caps are at least one fourth less bulky than the whole jars or cans, a conservative estimate places the amount of food preserved in used containers, bought in previous years and saved, at an additional 12 to 15 cars. Figures of the General Grocery branch on jar caps were not available, but the manager said the calls had been heavy.

And the canning season is not yet over—

The wholesale houses here say they are unable to keep a large stock of cans or jars in their warehouses and that they have difficulty in getting their orders filled by the manufacturers.

The trade territory of the two wholesale houses extends considerably beyond the boundaries of Fayette co., but even in taking this into consideration it is estimated that by the time the canning supplies are exhausted not less than 20 car loads of canned fruits and vegetables will be in the family store rooms in Fayette county.

If you like to figure, how many tons of food would you guess the

YACHT ATTACK STORY IS RETOLD IN PUBLIC BY SLAIN MAN'S WIDOW

PRESIDENTIAL BOOM STARTED

Home-town Boy Who Made Good Pushed by Kentuckians

Columbia, Ky., Sept. 25.—(AP)—A "home-town" boy who went west on the first train he ever saw—a freight train—and made good in a big way, was honored today by the home town he never forgot.

Thirty-one years ago Melvin A. Traylor, then a youth of 22, shook the dust of Adair county from his shoes and headed for the cattle country. He landed in Texas with $2 in his pockets—his total assets.

Today, as president of the First National Bank of Chicago, he is one of the west's financial leaders and the choice of his own people for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States.

Civic and political leaders from all over Kentucky were here today to participate in a "home town rally" which they hope will give impetus to a move to send Mr. Traylor to the White House.

There were brass bands on the streets and a "country ham and chicken dinner" was the noon attraction. The afternoon was set aside for speeches.

The move to build up a "Traylor-for-President" organization was inaugurated in Texas where Traylor met with success as a cattle financier. Rallies already have been held in Hillsboro, Malone and Ballinger, Texas, and similar meetings are planned in Illinois.

Mr. Traylor has not committed himself publicly on the presidential question but friends here said he had indicated he would accept the nomination if it was offered him. He has declined to take any part in the preliminary movement.

BLAME FOR MURDER PUT ON NEPHEW BY WOMAN'S HUSBAND

Admits, However, He Knew of Plot to Knife Her for Insurance

Cleveland, O., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Elmer L. Jump, 36, meek mannered former elevator starter, fought today to shift to his 15 year old nephew full blame for the slaying of his 29 year old wife.

Jump and his nephew, Donald McDonald, were held in Lake county jail at Painesville charged with plotting to murder Mrs. Jump for $2,400 worth of insurance on her life.

Young McDonald, detectives said, confessed he stabbed his aunt to death in Willowick, last Feb. 3. Continued on Page Two.

MRS. COLLINS UNDER STRAIN

No Mention Is Made of Mistreatment to Self as Originally Told

Huntington, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Benjamin C. Collins today in her first public recital of how two men boarded the Penguin and murdered her husband in Long Island Sound Sept. 9, indicated that she deliberately permitted them to abduct her believing that, by so doing, she might save her husband and child.

As the assailants placed her in the canoe, she told Coroner William S. Gibson, she saw a boat approach the Collins' drifting cruiser, so she went with them quietly—hoping that, with their attention concentrated on her, her husband and daughter might be rescued.

Her testimony also revealed for the first time publicly that 5 year old Barbara Collins was awake during the struggle on the Penguin and saw the slayers tie her father's hands before they crashed a milk bottle down on his head and threw him into the water.

"Leave my papa alone," she said Barbara called out to them.

Mrs. Collins appeared to be under a severe strain as she told her story. Part of the time she kept her eyes closed, and once she appeared to be about to collapse.

Mrs. Collins was accompanied by her attorney William A. Kelley.

"The first conscious thing I heard after we had gone to sleep was some one talking to my husband," she said.

And then she repeated the story of how the two men were demanding her husband take them and a wounded man to Stanford, Conn. While her husband was getting dressed to obey their order, some

DAYLIGHT SAVING GOES OUT SUNDAY

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Daylight savings, which has been in effect since the last Sunday in April, will cease for this year on Sunday morning.

When the clock strikes two, the hands (figuratively) will stop and remain so for 60 minutes, giving back to daylight savers the hour they lost when the clocks were moved forward an hour last summer. Most persons will change their timepieces when they go to bed Saturday night.

New York City as well as most communities in the eastern states, will be back on Eastern Standard time when the Sunday bells—alarm clock, breakfast and church bells—ring.

MINE ROW IN OHIO IS INCREASING

Automobile Carrying Two National Guard Officers Stoned by Strikers

SETTLEMENT, MAYBE

1000 Miners Out of Work in Sunday Creek Field

Athens, O., (AP)—The automobile of two Ohio National Guard officers, sent here as observers for Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, was stoned at No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal Company at Millfield, today as they attempted to pass through picket lines formed by striking bituminous coal miners.

Colonel Jones S. Shenier, and Lieut. Loren Windom, the occupants, escaped injury. Shortly afterward a stone was thrown through the rear glass of the automobile of Pete McKinley, superintendent of the mine, and struck his shoulder. He was not injured.

Colonel Shenier said he was going to the Murray City mine of the Sunday Creek Company today to speak to the strikers there. He made no comment on the stoning.

Officials of the Sunday Creek company said they intended keeping the 60 miners still working at Millfield near the mine shaft. Cots and food will be sent them so that it will not be necessary to take them through picket lines.

Oral Daugherty, labor superintendent for the company, told the pickets he would not attempt to take any new miners in and should he decide to do so later the sheriff would be notified 10 hours in advance and the strikers could obtain their information from the county official.

Andrew Wannacott, assistant mine superintendent, was stopped at the picket lines when he attempted to take in a truck loaded with food. Deputy sheriffs were summoned to force passage through the lines.

Jay Skinner, 23, Gloucester, said by officers to be a striker, was arrested on the picket lines on charges of intoxication and carrying concealed weapons. A deputy sheriff said he threw away a pistol as he approached but claimed he found a piece of lead and pistol cartridges in his pockets.

The two National Guard officers, accompanied by McKinley and Daugherty, of the coal company, left for Columbus before noon.

JAPANESE TROOPS BEING WITHDRAWN

RECOMMENDATION OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS ACCEPTED, REPORTS ASSERT

Geneva, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Japanese forces in Manchuria are being withdrawn to the fullest extent permitted by the requirements of the safety of Japanese residents and their property, the league of nations council was informed today in an official note from the Japanese government.

The greater part of Japanese troops in Manchuria already have been withdrawn to the railroad zone, the note said, and now are concentrated there.

Thus the Japanese government has accepted in large measure recommendations of the league council for withdrawal of troops. It is believed, however, that Japan will resist any suggestion for the appointment of a neutral military commission to make an inquiry in Manchuria, although the note represents the Japanese government as "profoundly desirous" of ensuring a peaceful settlement as quickly as possible "by negotiations between the two countries."

CALIFORNIA FORESTS ARE SWEEPED BY FIRE

Ukiah, Calif.—(AP)—Hundreds of men fought forest and brush fires sweeping Mendocino county Friday.

At least eighteen major fires were burning in the border lines and the county and forest officials estimated property damage at $100,000. A school house and nine houses were destroyed Thursday and thousands of acres blackened by the encroaching flames.

At times the pall of smoke was so dense motorists were forced to use their headlights on the highways in the middle of the day.

"FACE THE MUSIC" SAYS G.O.P. SENATOR BOOSTS SALES TAX

Believes Unless Additional Money Is Raised Treasury Deficit Will Grow

Washington, Sept. 25.—(P)—Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, after readvancing to President Hoover today his proposal for a sales tax, said he believed the United States should follow Great Britain's example and "face the music."

Reed said he believed that unless additional moneys were raised by taxation, the treasury's deficit would reach beyond $1,500,000,000.

The republican senator called upon the president principally to congratulate him upon his address to the American Legion which Reed said, "apparently has killed the bonus move."

"If the Legion does not bring up the bonus," he said, "I don't believe it will ever pass congress."

Reed said he was opposed to such methods of raising funds as decreasing the salaries of congressmen and federal workers.

"To cut the pay of senators and representatives would make it a rich man's job," he asserted. "It would eliminate the poor man from the public office."

The Pennsylvania said that if the proposed sales tax of one-half of one per cent was imposed it would mean a man with a salary of $2,000 would pay only $10 a year if he spent the entire sum on taxable articles.

"surely," he said, "people must pay something toward the conduct of government."

RENEWED AGITATION FOR MODIFICATION OF ANTI-TRUST LAW

Attacks on Sherman Anti-Trust Laws Have Centered at the White House

Washington, Sept. 25.—(P)—Agitation for modification of the anti-trust laws has been renewed in Washington well in advance of the congressional session.

Attacks on certain aspects of the Sherman act have centered at the White House and have reported more than passing attention from President Hoover.

Within two days two leaders in the building construction world—Robert D. John, president of the American institute of architects, and Charles F. Abbott, director of the American institute of steel construction have laid their complaints before the chief executive.

Abbott declared that he did not believe anti-trust laws should prevent trade cooperation essential to organized industry in maintaining the wage scale and employment.

Kohn, speaking for the construction league of the United States, contended the laws should be modified to eliminate drawbacks to the building trades. At present, he added, organized contractors could not raise funds to investigate the standing of concerns offering bids on their projects. This often means, he said, that contracts go to plants furnishing bricks or lumber which are obsolete and unable to produce the materials in the time limits necessary set.

one was pulling up the anchor, she said.

"My impression was they were bootleggers who merely wanted to use the boat."

"The older of the two men took charge of the boat and started it out of Price's Bend. My husband told me this looks like a mess, I don't know what's going to happen next."

Mrs. Collins told of how the men insisted that her husband help them run the boat toward South Norwalk, Conn., where the men said they wanted to go.

"And the next thing I remember," she continued, "the men ordered Ben to stop the boat. They were afraid something was following them. We drifted while a tow went by."

"We ran for fifteen minutes then and the man again ordered my husband to stop the boat. They said 'we got to get the wounded man on board.'"

"The older man directed the younger one to bring the man up and put him on a bed. Suddenly the door opened and I heard them say 'we're sorry to have to do this but we don't want any commotion.'"

"Then I saw them tie my husband's hands. My husband protested he didn't want to be tied but then I saw him put his hands behind to be tied."

"I heard my husband say 'take the boat and leave us alone. I went out. The older man ordered me back down into the cabin. Barbara was crying. 'leave my papa alone.'"

"The next thing I heard was a crash of glass. And then I heard my husband say in an ordinary tone of voice 'they're throwing me overboard.'"

Mrs. Collins said she threw a mattress and the anchor rope to where she thought he was and shouted to him but got no answer.

"The older man then came up and grabbed hold of me and held me tight," she said.

"I saw a row boat going toward the mattress. Then the older man asked me if there was any money on the boat. I said $20, but he dropped the conversation and said nothing more about it."

Then it was, Mrs. Collins testified that the man put her into a canoe.

Both men paddled the boat over the waters of Long Island Sound leaving her little daughter, alone on the drifting cruiser. As they left, she said, she noticed another boat coming toward their boat and thought they would save her husband before he drowned and take her daughter off the drifting boat.

"We paddled it seemed for hours," she said.

"As we approached land, the older man told the younger one to leave the canoe. The younger one asked where to meet him. The older man said 'you know.'"

"Then the older man paddled over to the yacht Bo Peep anchored near there. He changed some of his clothing. Opened a duffle bag and threw something that looked like note books and clothes overboard."

Then the man put her on the Bo Peep and paddled away toward Oyster Bay, Mrs. Collins testified. She made no mention of an attack on her by the older man and it appeared the officials had agreed not to question her on that part of the story.

She related the oft-repeated account of how she was saved from the Bo Peep by two men on an adjoining estate attracted by her cries.

for which he received $175 from his uncle out of the insurance money.

The eight months old murder mystery reached solution yesterday when police announced the pair had confessed after being confronted through a bit of chance gossip overheard among prisoners in the Mansfield reformatory.

"Don proposed killing Nell and I protested against his doing it," he told police. His first confession, police said, freely admitted conspiring with his nephew for his wife's death.

He said he feared to reveal his knowledge of the slaying because he feared implication. Jump reported his wife missing at the time of the killing.

"I was afraid Don would implicate me then as he is trying to do now," he said. "I know nobody will believe my story, but it's the truth."

Jump, however, expressed no remorse over her death. He told detectives she "was no good" and sought the company of other men.

Officers held five other persons in custody as material witnesses, including Jump's mother, Mrs. Fay McDonald, also young McDonald's grandmother.

PUSHING THE WORK OF CORN CUTTING

Farmers, with every available man that can be obtained to assist, are now pushing their corn cutting as rapidly as they can, due to the lateness of the season and the fact that the corn has been ripening very rapidly.

numerous. The Anti-Saloon League said in a statement the vote did "not reflect the sentiment of the country and probably not of the Legion itself." The League contended that until the Legion produced a satisfactory alternative to prohibition its resolution "will not be taken seriously."

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said in a statement he believed the Legion's majority vote for resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment would be answered by similar majority of the nation's voters "against any further continuation of the preposterous experiment of national prohibition."

In St. Joseph, Missouri, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, said "numbers of staggering drunks disgraced the uniform and yelled for beer" at the American Legion convention.

"The Legion has taken the wet side," he said in a statement. "I am not surprised. If you had seen the outfit that gathered in Detroit as I did, you would be surprised that 394 men (the number of delegates who voted against the referendum resolution) could be found who could stand up for the constitution and decency and sobriety."

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, condemned the resolution with a remark that "most of those who voted came out of wet states."

Senator Bulkley said he was delighted and "glad they voted on that instead of beer."

They will confer with executives of the Sunday Creek company there.

Lee Hall, president of District 6, U. M. W., said the guard officers carried with them a plan under which the strike would be settled, while he would not divulge the plan, he said it was acceptable to the Union.

More than 1,000 miners in Sunday Creek mines and in mines from which Sunday Creek company markets their output are on strike in protest against an alleged failure of the operators to recognize a check weighman at the Murray City mine, who United Mine Workers of America officials claimed was elected by the miners.

BAPTISTS TO HOLD RALLY SERVICES

Special rally services Wednesday Thursday and Friday night of the coming week, will be held at the First Baptist Church, with the Men's Bible Class, Women's Bible Class, Teachers Training Class, and Marytha Class, responsible for the three programs to be presented at the special services.

It is expected that each service will be largely attended.

Lohring Allen, in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, since a tree was blown across the Jeffersonville township fire truck while he and four other volunteer firemen were answering a fire alarm east of Jeffersonville, early in the summer was brought home from the hospital this week, and with a short time will be almost completely recovered.

Leon Smith, also seriously injured at the same time, was brought home some little time ago, and also continues to improve.

The tree was blown across the truck at the east edge of Jeffersonville during a violent wind, rain and electrical storm, and how any of the men aboard the truck escaped alive seems almost a miracle.

WOMEN EXPLORERS SCORN DANGER OF DESERT AND PEAK

Washington—(AP)—Living with Indians in isolated settlements, deep sea diving and collecting bats and lizards are all in the day's work with the Society of Women Geographers.

Bridge parties and shopping are shoved to back seats by these adventurous women who carve their names on highest mountain peaks and descend to the ocean's floor.

Miss Annie Peck, mountain climber, was forced to give up her professional work the past winter because of illness. Her 50th birthday was celebrated in New York last November with a big banquet.

Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, president of the society, probably will have crossed the ocean four times in a year by next fall.

She attended the coronation of the Emperor Haile Selassie I in Ethiopia last November and had planned a trip into Italy and the eastern Sudan, but the sudden death of her sister caused her to journey back to California.

She set sail again in May for Spain and Paris to remain until fall. While exploring some Spanish ruins a couple of years ago she fell off a cliff and had to give up her work for some time, but is again on the trail of adventure.

Grace Thompson Seton returned this spring from a journey through the Far East, made partly by elephant pack train and dug-out canoes.

Gloria Hollister holds the diving record for women, having gone 419 feet below the ocean's surface in the famous "bathysphere" of the Bermuda oceanographic expedition.

Sealed in this steel ball she was lowered beneath the waves. Through a port hole she observed undersea life.

Frances Denmore spent three weeks in an isolated Chippewa village on the shore on Lake Superior studying the music used by the Indians in their treatment of the sick.

Elizabeth Dickey passed five weeks with Indians on the banks of the Orinoco while the rest of the party explored the river.

GRAND COMMANDER OF KNIGHTS CHOSEN

Toledo, O.—(AP)—Robert H. Pausch, of Columbus today had been elevated to the office of grand commander of Knights Templar of Ohio, following conclusion Wednesday of the 90th annual convocation of the state commandery.

The 1932 convocation will be held in Columbus on a date tentatively set as Oct. 12-13.

RUSSIA FEARS JAPANESE MOVES

Russia, fearful that the Japanese may seize all of Manchuria from China and use it as a buffer state against Russia in the Far East, is said to be mobilizing troops along the Siberian frontier (shown on the map). Japanese troops have occupied Mukden and Antung and have taken the Chinese seaport of Tsingtao, as well as Changchun, northern terminus of the Southern Manchuria railway, and have extended their occupation north and east, gaining control of rail lines. Russians are vitally interested likewise because the Chinese Eastern railroad, running through Manchuria, connects Russian territory with the important Russian port of Vladivostok.

FLASHES OF LIFE

New York—Tobey, white poodle who once exercised in a $2,000,000 back yard on Fifth avenue, is to have a new home with newlyweds, Miss Isabel G. Ross, who inherited the dog and a fortune from Miss Ella Wendel, is to be married to Joseph Norris Murray, of Englewood, N. J. Miss Wendel was the last of a family that made millions in New York real estate.

The Pqs. Man.—Love laughs at locksmiths and freight trains. Archdeacon Faries swung off a freight train here, married two couples and caught the caboose as the train started again. The two ceremonies took four minutes. The archdeacon had to hurry, for the next train would not come through for two months.

Chambersburg, Pa.—State highway police have disqualified a combination automobile driver, Elmer McQuait, who was blinded by an accident, operated the clutch, gear shift and accelerator of his car while his ten-year-old son sat on his lap, steered and directed operations. Although they had no accidents, police opined it was too dangerous.

Brescia, Italy.—An enormous building is going up to house a department store and apartments. The first skyscraper in Italy, folks here think, will positively be the tallest commercial structure in Europe. It will be all of fifteen stories high.

Oakland, Cal.—Norman Flood's twenty-eighth wife has had her marriage annulled. She was not his last wife, however, for one he married later caused him to be sent to prison for bigamy. He said he had been married 29 times in 20 years and had more than 400 sweethearts.

To Clear Mystery?

The Dorothy Moormeister murder case, which has baffled police of Salt Lake City, Utah, since February 21, 1930, when her pretty body was found under the wheels of her own automobile may yet be solved—possibly with the aid of Mrs. Bertha Jacobs, above, wife of Paul Jacobs, alias Fred Williams. Mrs. Jacobs was booked on May 7, 1931, as the mystery woman and material witness in connection with the slaying of Frank Snyder, clothing salesman, who it was said knew about the Moormeister jewels which were stripped from the murdered girl the night she was killed. Snyder, a witness at the Moormeister murder trial, was "taken for a ride,"

HOOVER'S VALET
JOINED EMPLOY
AS INTERPRETER

Washington—(P)—To a tall black-haired man with a soldierly bearing is entrusted the duty of caring for the person of the nation's chief executive.

He is Kosta Boris, the first white man to serve any of the last six presidents as a personal servant. The five presidents preceding President Hoover were all attended by faithful negroes.

Boris became the personal attendant of President Hoover in 1919, when the present chief executive was in Russia on a relief mission. Knowledge of the Russian language first brought Boris to Hoover.

alan language first brought Boris to Hoover.

Boris looks little like the conventional valet. A general favorite in the Hoover household, he is called on to do everything from laying out the President's clothes to acting as guardian of the Hoover grandchildren when they are visiting the White House.

Although the white man has supplanted them as valet to the President, many of the negroes who once served in this capacity at the executive mansion are still active around the capital.

Probably the best known of the group died only recently. He was Arthur Brook, personal servant to Presidents Taft, Harding, Wilson and, for a short time, Coolidge. Brook was one of the most famous of White House servants.

William Sinclair, body servant to McKinley, is now living quietly in Albany, N. Y. Frequently he visits Washington to renew old acquaintances. Sinclair came to the White House with Cleveland.

Frank Dowling, who succeeded Brook as Coolidge's valet, now sits out side the office door of Secretary Mellon of the treasury, as a personal messenger.

Isaac Scott, who attended President Wilson when he was stricken at his S street home, still remains as a servant in the Wilson mansion.

But the veteran of them all is Charlie Reeder, now a messenger for William R. Castle, assistant secretary of state, who served under three presidents. As a boy he was with McKinley for four and one-half years. Roosevelt kept Charlie for seven and one-half years, and Taft for two years.

Roosevelt's servant was Henry Pinchney, whom he brought with him from Albany.

MY REVERENCE

My heart goes out to that Mother of mine

To the pride of my life and joys.

To a heart of truth, a soul of faith

A figure of fairness and poise.

The lips that caressed me but when a babe

The arms that about me entwined,

Are now rigid and cold from the absence of life

But her soul is in a place golden lined.

A Mother and a wife was her pride and joys.

A life that was free from shame,

But when the Angel came and bore

her away,

Sweet memories are those that remain.

My heart strings are broken with inevitable grief;

Her smiles, oh, how we will miss,

But memories of her with us shall remain

While her spirit rests in peaceful bliss.

Her Son—ROBERT E. MINSHALL

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to the neighbors, friends and relatives for their kind services during the death of our beloved one; also to Mr. Elmer A. Klever and Assistants, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Goddard and those who sent the beautiful flowers.

Mr. Ernest Minshall and children.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cox.

YEAR ON SEPT. 26

With the drop in temperature to around 54 degrees, Friday morning, visions of frost in the near future loom.

Last year there was frost on September 26, and again on the 27, 28-29 and 30, but no killing frost until October 18, as shown by the records of U. S. Weather Observer Chester P. Dunn.

The killing frost last fall was unusually late, however, and this fall it may come at any time after this late in September.

IN COLLINGS' CASE

Felix Di Martini, private detective who became famous for his sleuthing in the Hall-Mills case, in New Jersey, is in charge of the Benjamin P. Collings murder case, for the Suffolk county police force. He has been seeking clues to the murderer of Collings, engineer, on board his yacht, Penguin, in Long Island Sound.

LACTORIUM WHERE
COWS ARE QUEENS

Fremont, Neb. (P)—The milking shed has turned highbrow—you'd never recognize it on the Dan V. Stephens farm near here.

No wonder, for there it's a "lactorium," a twentieth century building so elaborate that dairymen and agricultural officials from far and near have been coming to see it.

Lucky is the cow that enters its portals to be milked!

Equipped much like a hospital operating room, the "lactorium" literally is a "cow castle," where the bovine herd receives no less than royal treatment.

Flies Electrocuted

The fact that every fly attempting to enter is electrocuted is an example of sanitary measures employed to keep the milk pure and the cow undisturbed.

Before each milking the attendant must bathe and garb himself in white. Every cow likewise is bathed before entering. The building's walls are of glossy white tile marble. One man can milk 100 cows in three and one-half hours.

Milk is taken from the cow, weighed and transported through a vacuum—never knowing the touch of human hand or air—chilled and refrigerated—all in less than six minutes.

Electrified window screens and doors write "finis" to the career of any fly that seeks to enter. An electric ventilating system filters the air and keeps it fresh.

Buzzer for Bovines

The attendant who supervises the milking operations merely presses an electric buzzer to summon the herd.

These are only a few of the advanced ideas which have been incorporated in this glorified milk shed. Stephens, a former Nebraska congressman, banker and publisher, has built for his aristocratic herd of Brown Swiss cattle.

Hose in the Colors Which Are Shown For Fall and Winter

FINE SHEER CHIFFONS

For dress wear Fashion demands sheer chiffon hosiery and in this group is shown DEXDALE hi-twist chiffons, the hose of a permanent dull finish, "Silk-Sealed" for extra wear, pure silk from the plated foot to the picot top. Discriminating women will find in these a hose which is particularly suited to all occasions of dress wear, and will buy an adequate supply to meet their needs during the coming months. Sizes 8½ to 10.

MEDIUM SERVICE WEIGHT

Service weight hose are made especially for those women who wish an every day hose to give service and wear. This style is all silk to the lisle hem and has the new cradle foot, and meets the needs of hosiery for street, business and school wear. Every pair is "Silk-Sealed" in the regular Dexdale process for greater beauty and longer wear, full fashioned, and usually sold at about twice this special price. Sizes 8½ to 10.

SLIGHT IRREGULARITIES BRING THIS LOW PRICE

"Slight Irregularities" in Dexdale hose, according to the high and exacting standards of the makers of these fine hose, are usually so insignificant that even our experienced hosiery experts find them difficult to determine and by no means are to be confused with term "Seconds". Small flaws, which in no way affect the wearing qualities or the beauty of these hose, has caused the Dexdale Hosiery Mills to stamp them as "irregulars" and allow us to sell them at a tremendous reduction. Examine these hose; compare them with our regular Dexdale hosiery and note for yourself, how next to impossible it is to find the trifling imperfections that account for this drastic underprice.

CRAIG'S—FIRST FLOOR

Buy Them Now
For Many Uses

Buy them for everyday wear. Supply the school girls with enough hosiery to last all winter. Take care of all the demands of the coming months, so that you will have a new pair to wear for every special occasion. Buy them now for Christmas gifts. For Birthday gifts. Lay in a supply for emergencies—and thank us during the coming month for this opportunity to save money on your hosiery budget.

A Worthwhile Event For Women

A genuine savings event appeals to every thrifty woman in this day and surely no greater interest could be aroused than by the sale of DEXDALE Silk Hosiery at such a price. Extra sales people will be ready to serve you quickly, but we urge customers to be here early to have the choice of a full selection of colors and sizes. Sale starts promptly at nine o'clock Saturday morning.

SOCIETY PAGE

MISS Ethel Pine entertained the Thursday Kensington Club with charming hospitalities and included Mrs. Alfred Browne, Miss Josephine Gosard and Mrs. E. F. Cole as guests with the club circle. A quantity of fall garden flowers were arranged prettily throughout the home.

The hostess promoted a delightfully congenial afternoon over the needlework and at its close served a very delicious collation. She was assisted in serving by her sisters, Mrs. Minnie L. Browne and Dr. Lucy W. Pine.

Washington folk by the dozens motored to Buena Vista Thursday evening to enjoy one of the best chicken suppers that the expert housewives of that community could prepare. It was a supper given by the M. E. Church of Buena Vista in the town hall.

A hundred and fifty tickets had been sold in advance but, fortunately, there had been bountiful preparations and around two hundred were served.

Long tables were prettily decorated with autumn flowers. The supper menu was elaborate, fried chicken and everything to go with it, home baked cakes and other delicacies. The men assisted the women in prompt serving and the viands were hot and appetizing.

Mrs. Arloun Glimmer, president, and Mrs. Eph Worthington, vice president, had general supervision.

A fine representation of Woman's Relief Corps members met in Memorial Hall, Thursday afternoon, for the regular meeting. Mrs. Sarah Sollars, president, was in the chair and much interest was shown in making plans for future activities. A dinner for Civil War veterans was scheduled for October eighth.

Flag presentations will be resumed in the near future and the annual inspection will be another affair holding much interest for members of No. 12.

The Charter Service was impressively put on in memory of Mrs. Sarah Pearce by Mrs. Ella Taylor and Mrs. Sarah Belle Inskeep, assisted by Mrs. Rena Davis.

The meeting closed in its usual manner.

The Bloomingburg Ladies' Aid Society of the Bloomingburg M. E. Church, added to its reputation for serving excellent suppers Thursday night, when over a hundred found their way to the club dining room. Fried chicken and all kinds of delicious viands were generously served.

The dining room and long tables were prettily decorated with fall flowers.

Mrs. Virgil Noble, president of the society was in charge. Mrs. Edna Speakman was chairman of the dining room and Mrs. Ella LaFollette of the kitchen.

The Junior girls of the Sunday School did the serving faultlessly.

BRITISH JOURNALIST COMES TO U. S.

Margaret Lane

A leading woman journalist of England, Margaret Lane, feature writer for the London Daily Express, has come to the United States to write temporarily for International News service. Miss Lane is the only child of H. G. Lane, editor-in-chief of the Northcliffe newspapers, which have a huge circulation.

The Woman's Missionary Society of McNair church held a guest meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors with the Willing To Help Guild and the Mary and Martha Circle as visitors. Mrs. Rebecca Armbrust, who became president with the departure of Mrs. Carey Cripps, conducted the business session. The society answered a call for hospital garments in foreign missions and will start work at once.

Mrs. P. J. Hennessy was program leader and opened with a reading, "Ghosts of the Spirit." Mrs. Edith Cabbage sang a pretty solo, with piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Margaret Foster, who also gave a reading, "Lindbergh in Alaska." Rev. Hennessy concluded the program with an interesting little talk.

Delightful social features followed the meeting, the women adjourning to the dining room. Tables were prettily decorated with fall flowers from the gardens of the hostesses.

Delicious refreshments were served by the committee, including Mrs. Rebecca Armbrust, Mrs. Bruce Hidy, Mrs. Sherman Reeder, Mrs. P. J. Hennessy, Mrs. Owen Ford, Mrs. M. O. Ireland and Mrs. John Combs.

Sports Coat Frock

This spectator sports coat frock is made of natural corduroy with large buttons for trimming and wide belt of navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langdon, of Sabina, were among Thursday's shopping visitors here.

Mrs. James Gaskins and Mrs. Blakeley came from Sabina to shop in this city Friday.

Miss Edith Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelly, has accepted a position as stenographer with the new Modern Business College.

Messrs. J. Edmund Smith, John E. Sheppard and Glenn B. Rodgers were business visitors in Columbus this week.

Miss Dorothy Sparks left for Cleveland, Friday afternoon, to be the week end guest of her Ohio Wesleyan University roommate, Miss Faye Stilson.

Miss Lora Morris returned Wednesday night from a three weeks' trip, visiting Niagara Falls, N. Y., Toronto, Canada, and spending two weeks at North Bay, Ontario, Canada. She will return to her position with The Frank L. Stutsen Co. Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. McDonald entertained at their home in Bloomingburg Thursday Dr. G. H. Shewaker, Mrs. Allen Stockwell and daughter, Virginia, of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Anell W. Kirk, of New Holland, returned Thursday from Chicago, where Mr. Kirk has been buying stocks for his Display Home soon to be opened on the corner of Court and North North streets.

Mr. Joe Walsman and sister, Miss Helen, of Chicago, were the guests of Mrs. Glenn Linsinger and mother, Mrs. Jennie Clear, Thursday.

Mrs. Verrell Baker, of Dayton, is the guest of Miss Bess Cleveland and Mrs. Charlotte Tuttle.

Mrs. George Davis was called to Urbana, Thursday, by the death of her sister, Mrs. William Bailey. Mrs. Bailey had a number of friends here, having visited her sister frequently until her health failed. She has been an invalid for several years.

M. P. CHURCH NOTICE
Methodist Protestant Church, W. M. Archer, pastor.

There will be no preaching service at the Mt. Olive church Sunday morning on the account of the re-opening and Home Coming of the Millidgeville church, which will consist of a morning and afternoon service.

Dr. J. C. Williams of Columbus will speak at 11 a. m. and Rev. W. H. Thompson of Columbus at 2 p. m. With special music in both services. All are invited.

MANAGER NAMED

Glenn Bidwell, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, has been made local manager for Standard Oil Co. succeeding Essel Burille, who has been promoted with the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio.

High School Days

Dressing the young girl of high school age is an art. Children are easily provided with suitable clothes, the matter of frocks for the debutante is also comparatively easy. But the intermediate period of high school days is more difficult. This simple Lelong evening frock for the student is made of pink and blue lace.

LIVING AND LOVING

BY VIRGINIA LEE

IF WE Americans really believed, with the founders of our nation, that "all men are created equal," and treated them accordingly, a letter such as the following would never need to be written:

"DEAR MISS LEE: Can you solve my problem?"

"I live in a one-horse town where there are several Italian families. I am quite friendly with one Italian boy. He is really a nice boy. I think a lot of him.

"I also go with an American boy who almost forbids me to even speak to me if I go with him.

"Should I let nationality interfere with this friendship, or just what should I do? I think just as much of one as I do of the other. Gee, I'm in a fix."

"PUZZLED ME."

I'd be good friends with the Italian boy and let the American boy go, if he is so jealous and narrow minded, dear. Don't let the fact that the other boy is of a different nationality interfere with your friendship in the least, as long as he is a nice boy.

You will probably gain more from friendship with this boy of a different land just because his background is unlike yours.

Always train yourself to be broadminded as a matter of principle, and show that you are by your attitude toward those of other lands, even if they seem alien to you. Count it a privilege when such people are willing to be your friends.

I. O. O. F. WILL GO TO SPRINGFIELD

Odd Fellows, and Rebekahs and their families from seventeen counties will meet in Springfield at the Odd Fellows Home there, Sunday forenoon, for an all day picnic, program to be rendered by the boys and girls of the home. It is expected that a large number will go from this county.

The reception line at the home forms at ten o'clock, with the state and district officers in line. Inspection of the home will be made during the forenoon, with picnic dinner in the basement at the noon hour, and program in afternoon during which the Home band will play, and other entertainment will be furnished by the boys and girls. The State officers will also speak briefly. Benjamin F. Reading of Toledo, Ohio, is the Grand Master of the Ohio Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Counties which will be represented at the picnic by members of the order and their families, are Fayette, Clark, Miami, Drake, Preble, Montgomery, Green, Madison, Champaign, Franklin, Pickaway, Delaware, Union, Fairfield, Shelby, Logan and Mercer.

For Your Preserve Shelf

PICCALILLI

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

Two gallons green tomatoes, two or three green, sweet peppers, two hot peppers, one quart onions, three quarts vinegar, four cups sugar, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, two tablespoons mustard (seed & ground), one cup horseradish (grated). Chop tomatoes or slice in one-half-inch slices. Soak chopped tomatoes and chopped onions and peppers over night in one pint salt and enough water to cover. Drain thoroughly. Mix sugar, spices and vinegar. Heat vegetables in mixture until tender, not reaching boiling temperature. Onions may be omitted.

DEAR DIARY

The story of A girl who went to New York for fame and fortune

SUNDAY NIGHT.

DEAR DIARY: When the movie was over tonight Nate suggested that we stop somewhere for a cup of coffee. We were already in his roadster and he was turning it out of Broadway on uptown.

"I'd like to," I said, in my most convincing tone. "But I think I'd better get home."

Diary, you know how much it took for me to resist going along, as he wished. I knew it would mean at least another hour with him.

And tonight was the first time I've seen or heard from him in weeks.

He turned and looked at me as if he hadn't heard quite correctly. "What's that?"

"I'd like to," I repeated, "but not tonight."

He laughed. "You're not going to tell me you're going in for this early-morning bright-eyed rising now?"

Sometimes I hate him for treating lightly any remark I make that has to do with business. The entire idea of my being serious about a career seems to strike him as unreasonable, a little more amusing than anything else and absurd!

It has, remember, from the first time I met him—that night in the diner en route to New York.

Even then he said something about pretty girls working for a living being ridiculous. "There ought to be a law against it," he said. "It has always struck me as being mad—this idea of pretty girls learning about typewriters when they should be concentrating on bigger'n better romance."

Well—I could say quite a lot on that subject myself, claiming to be a little ahead of the album-and-

CHURCH LIBERALS AND CONSERVATIVES IN LINE OF BATTLE

Episcopal Factions Assemble Forces for Final Contests

Denver, Colo., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Church liberals and conservatives assembled their forces today for a final contest over marriage and divorce laws of the Protestant Episcopal church.

So heated was the controversy, particularly in regard to the remarriage of divorced persons, that it overshadowed the scheduled election today of a presiding bishop of the church.

The Rt. Rev. James De Wolf Perry of Rhode Island, presiding bishop, will be opposed by Bishop James H. Freeman, Washington, D. C., and Bishop Edward L. Parsons of California in today's balloting at a secret session of the House of Bishops.

The element seeking liberalization of the church marriage laws, headed by Prof. Joseph Beale of Harvard, was defeated on a proposal which would have allowed ministers of the church to remarry persons divorced for any cause. The remarriage, under the provision would have been allowed, after the case had been reviewed and passed upon favorably by an ecclesiastical court.

Unexpected strength was manifested by the liberal element, however, when the house of deputies adopted an amendment to the proposed canon which would not only allow divorced persons who have remarried outside the church to retain their communicant status, but under certain conditions the church would also "bless the parties to the union."

It is too much to expect that a man will register enthusiasm after having had experience with a dull thud.

Nobody is born wise. People get that way by accumulating blisters.

EXPECT ARRESTS TO BE MADE SOON

Lima, O.—(AP)—Sheriff Harvey Russell of Auglaize county and Samuel J. Patterson, special investigator from the state fire marshal's office at Wapakoneta expect to arrest in the next few days ring-leaders of the mob that burned the New Bremen speedway Sunday after an automobile race was called off and spectators refused return of their money. Investigations have been made in Auglaize, Allen, Logan and Darke county, they said.

HELD FOR SHOOTING MAN TO DEATH

Lima, O.—(AP)—Daniel Hunt, 58, of Rushmore, was held in jail Friday in connection with the shooting to death of Frank Conoway, 55, Sugar Creek township constable and Leon Mobuck, 42, of near Vaughnsville Wednesday night when the two surprised four unidentified men attempting to steal Mobuck's hogs. Mobuck was almost instantly killed and Conoway died Thursday night. Officers said a rifle they found near the shooting scene belonged to Hunt.

MOSLEMS AND HINDUS START BLOODY RIOT

Srinagar, India.—(AP)—Nineteen persons were killed in this vicinity in an outbreak of communal rioting last night when Moslems attacked Hindu pickets.

The Hindus replied with rifle fire after twelve of their number had been wounded and the Moslems dropped. Another mob of Moslems armed with swords and axes barricaded themselves in the native quarter and defied the police. Business was brought to a standstill.

ROBBER EXECUTED

McAlester, Okla.—(AP)—Henry Lovett, 38, was electrocuted at the state penitentiary early today for the slaying of Dee Polart, El Reno, high school coach in an attempted bank robbery in El Reno last Thanksgiving Day. Polart, a patron, was shot down in the doorway of the bank.

MISSING ON OCEAN IN SMALL BOAT

All ships on the Atlantic have been requested to keep a lookout for the Evala, 36-foot boat in which Professor Blanco Alferich, his wife and seven-year-old daughter, set sail from Barcelona on a world cruise, May 25. No word of the Evala has been heard since that time. He is a former teacher of Spanish at the University of Idaho. Above, the boat and the missing family. Mrs. Alferich's mother lives in Cleveland, O.

SOUTHERNER CHOSEN LEGION COMMANDER AS CONVENTION ENDS

The Legion's action brought its aftermath of statements, including one from the newly-elected commander, Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw, N. C., that he does not believe "the Legion has taken the wet side." The Legion simply "called for full expression of the opinion of the citizenry of the country," he said.

The prohibition resolution was adopted by a vote of 1,008 to 294 on a roll call of the Legion departments. Many of the delegates split in the voting, but the heavy strength of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and many others went overwhelmingly to the side of the referendum.

No beer proposal came to a vote during the convention, the only official mention of the subject being recommendation by the employment commission that consideration be given to legalization of the foamy beverage "when properly presented."

The bonus payment resolution, which contained in a minority report from the legislative committee was defeated 905 to 597, also on a roll call.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The stock market saw a feverish day today, reflecting the confused state of mind in Wall street left by the violent advance and head- long decline of the past two days.

The stock exchange board of governors decided to tighten up their control of short selling by requesting daily reports as to stock sold short and bought back the same day. This was evidently aimed at the operations of floor traders.

Trading was active at times. Shares pushed up about 1 to 5 points during the early trading, fell back to show several losses of 1 to 8 at midday, pushed up to regain much of the early loss in the early afternoon, and ran into selling pressure. Extreme advances of about 3 points or more were recovered by U. S. Steel, Ameri- can Telephone, American Can, Southern Pacific, New York Cen- tral, and others, while Atchison sold up as much as 8 at one time.

On the midday decline Coca Cola dropped 8 points and Eastman 4. While the stock exchange re- scinded its complete ban on short sales after the first two days of the week, it at the same time re- quested daily reports giving the identity of short sellers, so that the governing committee might de- tect any bear raiding. Today's re- vision of the memorandum re- questing the information will make the check up even more thorough.

Tightening up of trading restric- tions in London, to the extent of abandoning that market's tradi- tional periodic settlements for daily cash transaction, literally had an adverse effect upon senti- ment here, although London stocks generally closed higher. The Par- is Bourse, however, was heavy, and some uneasiness was caused for a time by an erroneous report received by a Wall Street finan- cial news ticker of banking trouble in France.

The Federal Reserve Bank in- creased its rate on bankers' ac- ceptances, to bring it in line with the higher open market rate which resulted yesterday from large foreign offerings. There was no further flurry of heavy offer- ings of acceptances, however.

NEWS BRIEFS FROM WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Lehn & Pink reports that sales for the first eight months of 1931 were about nine per cent below the cor- responding period last year. Ed- ward Plaut, president, said that in spite of this year's unusual ex- penditures for the introduction of new products the earnings bear a sound relation to those of 1930.

The Consolidated Gas Co. es- tablished a new high record for monthly sale of automatic gas re- frigerators in August when it sold 6,154 against 5,916 in July, the pre- vious record month.

WOOL MARKET

Boston, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say to- morrow:

"Business in the wool market of this country has been more or less suspended during the past week, in consequence of the de- parture of England from a gold basis and the subsequent decline of the pound sterling."

The Bulletin will publish the fol- lowing quotations:

COUNCIL HOLDS BRIEF SESSION

Council held a short session at adopting an ordinance fixing the grade on Grand Avenue, which is undergoing rebuilding, and re- fusing to adopt a resolution for the city to replace curbs along part of the street, that were set some years ago, but which, it seems, do not conform with the grade of the street proper.

The session lasted only a short time and nothing else of impor- tance was considered.

SENTENCED TO WORKS FOR BOMBING HOUSE

Toledo, O.—(AP)—William Hirst was sentenced Thursday to 90 days in the workhouse and fined $700 and costs on three charges, includ- ing one arising from the recent bombing of a porch at the home of Homer E. Frye, Secretary of the Toledo Better Business Bureau.

Mrs. Martin Sennett Conner and Rachel.

Mississippi's next First Lady undoubtedly will be Mrs. Martin Sennett Conner, since her husband has won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and, in Mississippi, that means election. She is above with her daughter Rachel, eight.

Here is an aerial view of the Marshall Field estate, in foreground, at Lloyd's Beach, L. I., showing the locale of the Collings yacht murder mystery, which has completely baffled police. The strip of sandy beach, indicated by arrow, is where the body of Benjamin Collings, Stamford, Conn., engineer, was found. Inset is of District Attorney Alexander Blue of Suffolk county, probing case.

Near this spot on Chesapeake bay, Mrs. Janet Graham Kane, wife of Dr. Elisha Kane of the University of Tennessee, died of drowning. Professor Kane has been held without bail at Hampton, Va., on a charge of murdering his wife. According to Coroner George Vanderslice, the professor has made conflicting statements as to his whereabouts the day before the drowning. Insets are of Mrs. Kane and Professor Kane, who has denied the murder charge and says he has an alibi.

The love of masquerade is innate in practically every human being, according to Lucien Lelong, famous Paris couturier. It fulfills the secret longing to get outside oneself, to change one's personality, to see what it feels like to be someone else. One of the loveliest fancy dress balls of the present season was given by Miss Elsa Maxwell in a ducal chateau in Bois de Boulogne, where the guests were asked to come dressed in the late Eighteenth century costumes. Two of the costumes worn, by Lelong, are sketched.

FAMILY QUARREL IS FATAL TO GIRL

SHOT BY STEPFATHER WHEN SHE STEPS BETWEEN HIM AND HER MOTHER

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A 20-year-old girl who threw herself between her mother and stepfather as they quarreled in their home on Thursday was shot and killed by the stepfather, who then made a futile effort to end his own life. The girl, Rose Hohagyr, a stenographer, was killed instantly by Joseph Besnek, the stepfather, who was arrested as he fled from the house. He fired five shots at himself as he fled, none of the bullets striking him.

Besnek, who said he was estranged from his wife, admitted the shooting. He said he wanted to kill his wife because she drove him from their home. Mrs. Besnek said she had parted from her husband because he drank heavily.

AMBULANCE CHASING

Cleveland, O., (AP)—Motions to show cause why they should not be suspended or disbarred from practice were filed by the Cleveland Bar Association Thursday against the law firm of Newcomb and Nord, one of the best known in Cleveland. The motions resulted from an investigation started by the Bar Association into alleged "ambulance chasing" and illegal practices of attorneys and law firms.

Elizabeth Harris Dahl, divorcee who wrote romantic letters to Professor Elisha Kent Kane, charged with drowning his wife, Jenny Graham Kane, near Hampton, Va., has been termed "a Cinderella of the high seas." According to a copyrighted story by International News Service, "Lizbeth," although only a stewardess aboard the liner Leviathan, and later the America, "was courted for her beauty, charm and wit by the salt of transatlantic passengerdom. Taking orders aboard the vessel, the fascinating 45-year-old stewardess lived on land at the most exclusive and expensive hotels, and ordered her suitors about like a true queen of the seas." A friend said, "Lizbeth didn't care a hang for Professor Kane. Anything she may have written him was only the result of her natural habit of romancing."

"TALKIES" COST LESS

Dialogue Replaces Descriptive Scenes of Silents; Other Economies Practiced to Give Public More for Money.

SILENT TALKIE CAMERAS such as this save large sums in avoiding "retakes".

WITHIN A FEW HOURS' RIDE of Hollywood in southern California, a camera is set up to film Sahara desert scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. —Talking pictures, contrary to popular opinion, are produced at approximately 20 per cent less cost than the silent films. This is because dialogue is being used in a descriptive sense to explain away connective scenes which were necessary before.

In exceptional cases where the costs remain the same type of pictures—silent and synchronized to voice—the 20 percent differential is incorporated in the talks in the form of additional sets, higher priced and better actors, and greater story value.

PUBLIC BENEFITS

This additional value has redounded to the benefit of audiences in the form of more elaborately produced pictures for an admission price considerably lower than when silent pictures were in their prime.

In other words, the money which formerly went into the production of narrative passages in silent pictures—many of which were discarded in the final cutting—is being utilized in a more careful preparation of story, in the employment of better actors and directors.

Another means toward economy is the growing practice in studio art departments of building miniature sets in advance of filming. This is done for the purpose of presenting a definite visualization to directors, writers, cameramen and construction technicians.

When Set Models Count Often it has been learned that, after a miniature set has been discussed, a less elaborate structure would suffice as well. Previously, the sets were constructed, errors made, costly changes ordered and the belated discovery made that it was impractical because story changes had eliminated the scene.

The advantage of the miniature set—when used chiefly as a model—is obviously an economic expedient of startling proportions.

In addition to these points, increased economies have been effected in the technical branches of the industry. The laboratories where films are developed have been improved to the point where imperfect prints are an absolute rarity.

Other Economies

Cameras are more silent, obviating the necessity for "retakes," the new ribbon microphone, with its greater amplifying factors and directional qualities, is largely responsible for doing away with the jumpiness noted in early talkies and with the dominance of close shots. This one thing relieves the necessity of moving in from long to intimate shots when only one can be used in the final film.

Again, the movies are utilizing natural resources to the best of their advantage. This is reflected in the current vogue of eliminating long distance locations for settings closer to home.

Any town is a bum town if your conscience makes everybody seem suspicious.

Germany

In nineteen fourteen Germany, under the iron rule of Prussian militarism and after years of careful planning and preparation, plunged the world into four years of frightful war which took a toll of millions of lives, disarranged the whole economic and financial world, destroyed billions of dollars of property. A bewildered and an appalled world awakened rudely to the horrors of war, after years of peace and fancied security, soon aroused and combined its latent powers and resources and defeated Germany's armies on the battlefields of Europe.

To accomplish the defeat of Germany's armies, to upset her plans of military control of the world required the participation of the United States, required a marshalling of all our vast resources of men, finance and industry. This nation rose equal to the crisis then and the German armies, defeated and disorganized, retreated inside the boundary lines of their own country, until the treaty of peace was signed.

Today the world realizes that Germany's peace time army of finance and commerce and industry has caught the world off guard and is occupying the positions of vantage.

As a result of the much heralded Dawes plan and Young plan of adjusting reparations claims against Germany, American, British and French, especially the two first mentioned, loaned heavily to Germany, bought Germany's bonds, deposited surpluses in German banks. Both the Dawes plan and the Young plan were, in fact, modified by creditor nations, at the solicitation of private interests who had become involved by making private loans.

After years of careful planning to avoid paying for the destruction created by the war, Germany is now dictating to the world, even as she did, after the invasion of Belgium in nineteen fourteen, terms upon which the nations of the world can settle with her—namely by cancelling all war claims and, perhaps, a big proportion of the private loans made since the war and which now total billions of dollars.

Now as in 'fourteen, it is up to the United States to marshal resources, take the chance of loss which promises now to be tremendous and again defeat, with her allies—the old allies of war days—Germany's same old plans for world domination, now differing only in form and in the personnel of its commanders, from the plans of 'fourteen.

Germany's great threat now is to go Bolshevik unless her demands are acceded to. That's the same old terrorism bluff of 'fourteen—destruction.

In our opinion the world had better call the bluff. If Germany is minded to go mad and destroy herself as a nation, that's her own business.

At present Germany has the world by the tail with a down hill pull all through bluff.

Federal Relief

Some of the advocates of government relief for the jobless affect a critical tone which might leave the uniformed and unwary under the mistaken impression that the government has done nothing toward that end.

This year the federal government is spending seven hundred and eighty-seven million, five hundred and eighty-seven thousand dollars on public works and drought relief. Thousands of men and women have been given employment through this program. From the beginning of the unemployment crisis until the end of the present fiscal year next June the national government will have completed, started or projected a construction program to cost about one billion, five hundred and fifty million dollars.

Public men should not misrepresent what the government is doing or has done in a crisis. To do so is breaking down the confidence of the people in their government at a time when the government must have the support of every citizen. We shouldn't expect too much of the government, which, after all, is ourselves, but we do. It's difficult to avoid that but we can tell the truth.

MANCHURIA IS NOW LOST TO CHINESE

American Financiers Uneasy Fearing Nipponese Will Not Heed League of Nations or Kellogg Pact

By CHARLES P. STEWART

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. — Whatever American diplomacy may think of Japan's latest policy in Manchuria, American financiers with interests in the Orient are uneasy.

The Japanese appear to financial interests as showing convincing signs of a too long pre-arranged plan to be lightly turned aside by a League of Nations' warning. The disturbance which must ensue if the Japanese proceed with what seems to be their present program has possibilities it is difficult to estimate.

Congressman Ernest Gibson of Vermont, who recently returned from a tour of the Far East, brought with him accounts of very ominous internal conditions in Japan—a of a thoroughly discontented people and many evidences of threatened revolutionary developments.

If so serious a situation exists, the suggestion is made here that a governmental move to consolidate national sentiment by the stirring up of enthusiasm in some foreign enterprise would not be surprising, especially considering that Tokyo has coveted Manchuria for years and getting it while aligning domestic dissatisfaction simultaneously would be killing two birds with the same stone.

Whether or not there is truth in Japanese complaints of Chinese acts of aggression against the Japanese-controlled South Manchurian railroad is deemed unimportant. Such acts, it is believed here, could have been stopped and even punished without proceeding with so extensive a military occupation of the country had it not been deliberately intended to grab and hold it permanently at the first good excuse, which perhaps was furnished by irresponsible Chinese elements.

The theory that Japanese military influence has predominated in disregard of the civil administration's intentions is considered no improbability. That it will continue to do so is thought equally likely.

The method is mentioned as typically Japanese.

Japan, it is recalled, opened the Russian war without a formal declaration of hostilities. The declaration did not follow until after the czar's naval force at Port Arthur had been surprised and destroyed, causing much international criticism—which, however, did not alter the fact that the Mikado had gained an advantage he held to while the struggle lasted.

Nobody familiar with the Orient doubts that the Japanese once dug in, in Manchuria, can hold it against everything China can do to dislodge them.

To diplomatic representations from League of Nations and other sources, it is foreseen that Tokyo will make conciliatory replies, but

Poetry For Today

KEEP CLEAN

Keep your lips clean. Let no word Foul or filthy e'er be heard;
Let no calumny or lie
Base . . . despicable pass by;
Nor so slanderous gibe or quip
Ever be upon the lip.

Keep your hands clean. Let no deed
Of cupidity or greed
E'er besmirch them with its stain—
Let no act of theirs give pain;
Manly hands were made to serve—
Let them not from duty swerve.

Keep your heart clean. Let it be
From all degradation free,
And the reflex of its grace,
Will be splendor in the face;
Purity of heart will make
Hand and lip its worth partake.

He who is unclean of mind
Hand and heart and lip, is blind;
Blind of conscience, blind of soul—
Blind of manhood's perfect whole;
God of Heaven! I would be Like to pattern unto thee.

FRANK GRUBBS.

Ultimately the prediction is general that she will continue to occupy Manchuria unless Russia offers forcible objection.

This is exactly what is expected to occur as soon as Moscow becomes convinced of its unavailability. Of Russia's strength under communism there is great uncertainty, but anyway, it is agreed that a Russo-Japanese clash would be far more serious than one between the Japanese and Chinese—so serious, in fact, that the failure of such means as League of Nations representations and protest under the Kellogg treaty to prevent it would be convincing proof of their worthlessness.

From China much effervescence, but not much action, is anticipated. Manchuria is believed here to be lost to her unless foreign intervention results effectively.

Tokio's accounts that Japan does not desire the territory as its climate is unsuitable for Japanese colonization, are not seriously taken. It's soil is rich; its mineral resources large; its labor supply cheap and adequate, and Japan is well known to have desired it for a generation as a source of raw material for her factories if not as an overflow field for her surplus population.

High Spots In Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Among the mementoes of the days when she was living in the White House, that Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes brought to her home in Fremont when her husband retired to private life in 1881, was a small owl, mounted by a Washington taxidermist, which was given a place of honor over the hall clock at Siegel Grove. It was a reminder of an important work that President Hayes took upon himself when he became President.

The Washington monument had been halted at the height of less than 150 feet, because it was found that the foundations were not strong enough to bear additional weight. The unfinished monument had stood in that condition for several years. President Hayes caused the army engineers to take up the matter and recommend a plan by which it could be safely completed. They did so and proposed that a new foundation be placed under the monument, which they said could be done without razing it.

Shoring up large structures was a rare thing in those days, and the work as it proceeded. In order to detect any developing weakness with accompanying danger to the monument, the engineers had installed a delicate recording instrument near the top of the structure. One morning it was found that a record of violent swaying of the monument had been made and the superintendent hurriedly inquired of the astronomical observatory whether there had been an earthquake vibration during the night. The seismograph had no such tale to tell.

Then some of the engineers entered the monument and ascended to the top, where they found that a small owl had established his home. In flying about it had come in contact with the apparatus and caused the record as of swaying to be made. The owl was shot to prevent further interference and this was the specimen that was given to Mrs. Hayes because of her interest in the success of the work.

A BIRD THAT LAYS NO GOLDEN EGGS

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By WILLIAM GAINES

NEW YORK—If you can teach the fine art of bookbinding, come to New York and hang out your shingle. But hurry, because whenever there is a demand here there is apt to be an oversupply soon.

Right now there is plenty of work awaiting such a teacher, and it is reasonable to suppose, fair money.

Bookbinding on a large commercial scale is well taken care of, of course.

What many here want to learn is the distinctive bookbinding of the individual artist, or the fascinating hobby of the amateur, which is fashionable in Europe.

Teachers, if there are any, are in hiding.

Otto Walter Fuhrmann, director of the division of graphic arts, New York University, says so many have inquired at the institution regarding instruction in the fancy covering of tomes that it may prove advisable to offer a special course. That is, if the right person can be found to teach it.

The university, among its courses in printing, touches upon the subject in its lectures. But there is no actual training.

BOOKS WORTH BINDING

Fuhrmann has been in communication with various persons who should know about such things. All of them say they, too, have been getting such inquiries, but none of them has been able to tell him where to send those anxious for private instruction.

Art and trade schools have been unable to offer information. Three factors are increasing the demand for artistic coverings for books in this country, it seems. There is the European influence so strong upon many of our fads and fashions.

Then there is the advanced interior decoration, which recognizes in books one of the most impressive and personal embellishments of the home.

Third, and most important, is the enlarged position of literature in American life, with such writers as Lewis, Cabell, Dreiser and Cather contributing works judged to be of lasting quality.

"And the sentries?"

"In the canteen, sir."

"Then, confound it, what are you doing here?"

"Me, sir?" was the reply. "I'm the prisoner."

Michigan and Illinois to Try Out on Frosh

By WILLIAM WEEKES

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(P)—Chicago, Indiana, and Minnesota, which will act as ushers for the Big Ten football season tomorrow, went through their final pre-season maneuvers today, while the Notre Dame and the other members of the Western Conference looked on.

The return to eligibility of Don Birney, a veteran kicking and passing halfback, promised to make Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's job of picking two University of Chicago squads a little easier, while Fritz Crisler of Minnesota, and Billy Hayes of Indiana, made last minute revisions to fill in spots vacated by injuries. Stagg planned to use two different squads instead of making them up and letting everyone play a part of both the Hillsdale and Cornell contests.

Harold Anderson, a veteran end, will not be with Minnesota tomorrow when the Gophers face the North Dakota Aggies and Ripon in a doubleheader.

He has a heavy classroom schedule and has been troubled by an old knee injury. Pete Somers, the leading quarterback candidate and passer, also may be out of action tomorrow, because of an injury to his right hand.

Adolph Sabik, a sophomore halfback who has been regarded as a certainty to start for Indiana against Ohio University, will be out because of an injury, but it is likely that he will return in time for the Notre Dame game a week hence.

Practice scrimmages will be held in the other camps. Michigan will play a game length affair with the freshmen, and Bob Zuppke's Illinois squad will make its first public appearance against the yearlings. A search for reserves is keeping Noble Kizer busy at Purdue and tackles are his special worry. The Boilermakers have a huge squad of capable backs, and some of them may find themselves working in the line before the active season begins.

Northwestern's regulars will get another workout against the freshmen who will use Nebraska formations. The Wildcat line still does not satisfy Coach Hauley, causing him to wonder what will happen when they meet Nebraska.

Bill Carroll, a substitute last season, apparently has earned himself a place in the Ohio State backfield and he is figured as a starter along with Hinchman, Holcomb and Vucinich. Injuries to four leading tackle candidates has retarded work at Iowa, and Coach Burt Ingwersen has shifted his material about seeking men to fill the places.

Wisconsin's backfield appears to have hit a real gait and things are looking up in the Badger camp.

British Champion

Still in Race Of

Feminine Golfers

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(P)—A sturdy 20-year-old American girl today stood between Miss Enid Wilson, towering British champion, and the final round in the women's national golf championship.

The task of blocking the English girl's challenge fell to Miss Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, N. Y., long hitter and one of this country's top ranking players.

The other semifinal match brought together the defending champion, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, who is campaigning for the sixth championship, and Miss Virginia Van Wie, 22-year-old Chicago star.

With the Stars

By The Associated Press
Bob Grove, Athletics—Held Red Sox to five hits to hang up 31st victory.

Willie Kamm, Indians—Cracked out double and three singles against Tigers.

Who's Who And Why

Gabby Street

Charles (Gabby) Street, who holds the big league managerial record—two pennants in first two years—bowed into this role of pennant and last-place teams Feb. 27, 1883. Huntville, Ala., was the town winning honor as his birthplace. Helped fight Spanish-American war. Began career playing semi-pro ball for Jackson, Tenn. In quick order caught for Hopkinsville, Ky., Terre Haute, Ind., Cincinnati and Boston Nationals; Williamsport, Pa., and San Francisco, Cal. Washington Americans bought him from Frisco in 1907. Almost immediately formed with Walter Johnson most famous big league battery—Johnson and Street. Helped fight World War. Came out wounded and a sergeant. Back to baseball and by 1925 had "worked up" to job as manager of Muskogee, Okla., team—A Class C outfit. Became a Cardinal coach and when Bill McKee, Cardinal manager, signed with the Boston Nationals, Street was appointed manager, Oct. 30, 1929. Last season, his first he piloted St. Louis to a pennant but failed to take the world series.

Frank Frisch

Frank Frisch, one-time Fordham Flash and baseball's as well as Cardinals' best second baseman, is a big city guy and has been since Sept. 9, 1898, the date on which he was born in New York City. Frankie attracted the attention of John McGraw by stellar work at second for Fordham University in 1919. Almost immediately after joining the New York Giants Frisch became a star. He played at second, third and short and always hit well over .300. Gotham fans were sad indeed when the Giants traded him to St. Louis for Pitcher Jimmy Ring, one-time Cincinnati world series star, for Rogers Hornsby in 1926. Frisch is now the Cardinal's captain. He is the real world series veteran of the Red Birds—this being his seventh fall classic.

Bill Hallahan

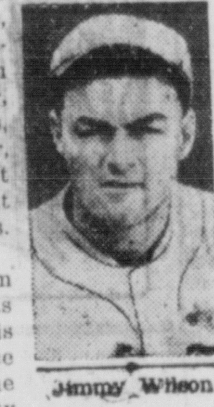

Bill Hallahan (William Anthony) to the folks decided to be born in Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 4, 1904.

Jim Bottomley

He couldn't decide whether he was a right or left-hander, so became a right-handed batter but a left-handed pitcher. Syracuse hired him in 1924 but couldn't see his worth so sent him to Kalamazoo Mint league team. He was so good that the St. Louis Cardinals grabbed him that same season and have used him for a star pitcher for the Cards, and sometimes, the Cardinals minor league subsidiaries.

James Leroy Bottomley staged a brilliant comeback as the Cardinals' first baseman this year. The goat of the 1930 series—he made 1 hit in 22 tries for an average of .045—it was freely predicted Jim would be traded this year. But he has again become one of the batting stars of the Cards. Sunny Jim—his beaming disposition earned that tag—was born not far from St. Louis—Osgesby, Ill. on April 23, 1900, in fact. Six feet tall and weighing 170 pounds. Jim got a great break by starting his baseball career as a Cardinal in 1920. After seasoning in Mitchell, S. D.; Houston, Tex., and Syracuse, N. Y., Jim finally made the grade, becoming a full-fledged Red Bird in 1922.

Jimmy Wilson

Jimmy Wilson, the Cardinals' No. 1 catcher, gets a big kick out of playing in a world series against the Philadelphia Athletics. James was born in Philadelphia, July 23, 1900. Thus, last fall and this, he puts his pals and home town neighbors in a jam—they don't know whether to be loyal to the A's or to Jim. Jimmy got his start with New Haven in 1920 but after three years he was bought by the Philadelphia Nationals, which club traded him to St. Louis for Homer Peel and Virgil Davis in 1928.

Burleigh Grimes

Burleigh Grimes was pitching major league ball when some of his team mates were spelling "cat" with a "k" in grammar school. This patriarch, born in Clear Lake, Wis., Aug. 18, 1893, Burleigh was being tried by Detroit in 1913. Followed brief careers for Chattanooga, Tenn.; Richmond, Va., and Birmingham, Ala. Pittsburgh bought him in 1916, traded him to Brooklyn in 1918 which club traded him to New York in 1927. From Gotham Burleigh was sent to Pittsburgh again, then to Boston, landing with St. Louis in mid summer last year.

Chick Hafey

Chick Hafey (Charles James Hafey) is a six-foot native of Berkeley, Cal., having been born there Feb. 12, 1903. Eye-trouble has not stopped his career as an outfielder which began with the Cardinals in 1923. Spent early weeks of first three seasons pitching for Ft. Smith, Ark.; Houston, Tex., and Syracuse, N. Y., but always returned to Cardinals before seasons closed. Is a fine right-handed hitter—average for his career being over .320. Has played in all three previous Cardinal series. Weighs 185 pounds.

Paul Derringer

Paul Derringer, the Cardinals' sensational young first-year pitcher is youngest of regulars in age and point of service. Born in 1907 in Springfield, Ky., he began playing the game in West Virginia's coal fields in 1926. Discovered by Cardinal scouts he was sent to St. Louis' Danville, Ill., "farm" in 1927 from Danville he was sent to Rochester and last year developed so rapidly he became a full-fledged Cardinal this year. Tall—six feet three inches—and powerful—weighs 203 pounds—Paul is the best right-handed pitcher to come up to the majors this year.

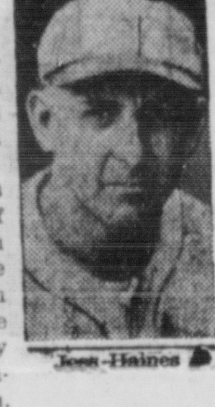

Charles Gelbert

Charles Gelbert, St. Louis' fine young shortstop, was the team hero in the 1930 world series, his first. He batted brilliantly—his average was .353—against the Athletic mound stars and was a bulwark on defense. Gelbert, who married just after the 1930 series, was born in Scranton, Pa., Jan. 25, 1908. His effective play with Topka, Kan., in 1927, his first professional year, caused his return to Rochester, a Cardinal farm, which had optioned him to the Western Association club. He went to the Cards in 1928. Gelbert is a right-

Of Louis Cardinals

hand, is five feet eleven inches tall, weighs 172.

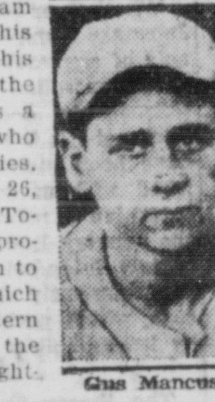

Jesse Haines

Jesse Joseph Haines, like Grimes is one of the deans of the Cardinal mound staff. Haines was born July 22, 1893, in Clayton, O. Haines began his career tossing strikes with his right hand for Dayton, O., in 1914. Going to Saginaw, Mich., he was picked up in 1915 by Detroit when the Southern Michigan league quit. In 1916 he began a long trek, playing successively for Springfield, O.; Denver, Colo.; Topoka and Hutchinson, Kan.; Cincinnati Nationals; Tulsa, Okla., and Kansas City, Mo., which club transferred him to the Cardinals in 1920. In 1924 Jess hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Boston Nationals, first St. Louis pitcher to hurl a perfect game in 48 years.

Sparky Adams

Earl (Sparky) Adams, third baseman, though he has also played at short and second, born in Tremont, Pa., Aug. 26, 1897, is one of the smallest players in the majors. Only five feet four and a half inches tall, Sparky weighs just 150 pounds but is a good hitter and fast. Adams started with Danville, Va., in 1920, was tried by the Cards the next season and then sent to Syracuse, N. Y. Subsequently he played for Wichita Falls, Tex.; Chicago Nationals; Pittsburgh Nationals and—since early last season—the Cardinals.

Gus Mancuso

August Rodney Mancuso (just call him Gus) is the Cardinals' No. 2 catcher but he'd be No. 1 on many big league teams, Wilson, the Red Bird's first string man, being a star receiver. Mancuso, born Dec. 5, 1905, in Galveston, Tex., broke into baseball with Beaumont, Tex., in 1925. He then saw service with Houston, Mt. Pleasant and Longview, Tex.; Ft. Smith, Ark., and Syracuse, N. Y. After a brief trial with St. Louis he was sent to Minneapolis, Minn.; Rochester, N. Y., and Houston on option. Coming back to the Cardinals last year he proved himself a formidable hitter a good catcher.

Baseball Games

In a Nutshell

Not content with leading the Philadelphia Athletics in their greatest pennant-winning season in the American league and becoming the first left-handed pitcher to win 30 major league games, Robert Moses Grove evidently is out to set a record for the boys to shoot at for a good many years.

Grove, already has tied one American league record by winning 16 straight games earlier this season and seems to have clinched a new major league pitching mark as he won his thirty-first game of the year yesterday. So far the south-paw king has lost only three games against his 31 victories, giving him an average of .912.

In winning yesterday's game from Boston by a 9 to 4 count, Grove gave only five hits to gain a record for the season of allowing 241 safeties in 186 innings, and by 19th victory of the season 5 to 1, strikeout total, which leads the league by a wide margin, up to 169.

Oran Hildebrand, who came up to Cleveland Indians from Indianapolis only a short time ago, bested the veteran Earl Whitehill of Detroit to win his second major league victory, 6 to 4. Hildebrand allowed only eight hits.

Big Jim Elliott of the Phillies turned in an enviable performance in the game on the National league schedule as he held the Pittsburgh Pirates to five hits to win his fifth victory.

A flock of exhibition games for the benefit of the unemployed kept five other major league teams busy and netted something over $78,000 for the jobless of New York and St. Louis. The results were something of a triumph for the American league representatives. The St. Louis Browns walloped Burleigh Grimes, ace of the Cardinal staff, for six runs in the fifth inning and downed the National league champions 7 to 4.

At New York, the Yankees took the best claim to the city championship by downing the Brooklyn Robins 5 to 1 in the second half of a charity double header after the Giants had defeated Brooklyn 3 to 1.

The Oklahoma City Firemen, winners of the 1931 state amateur baseball tournament, were runners-up in both 1929 and 1930.

JACK SHARKEY A QUITTER; HE WON'T FIGHT CARNERA BUT LOUGHRAN IS READY

New York, Sept. 25.—(P)—Primo Carnera may make that second New York appearance of his next month, but it appeared a bit improbable today that the big Italian's opponent would be Jack Sharkey. The Boston sailor man who still can talk a good fight.

Promoter Jimmy Johnson has had Carnera and Sharkey booked for some time to clash in a 15-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Oct. 1 but yesterday the bout was shoved back to Oct. 12 on Sharkey's plea that he had injured the little finger of his left hand and would not be able to go through with the battle on the earlier date.

The new date of Oct. 12 was the New York State Athletic Commission's idea and not Sharkey's. Jack maintained that he would not be in shape to fight Carnera that soon and when asked point-blank whether he planned to go through with the match then replied with a flat and decisive "no."

So the whole matter was up in the air along with Johnson, Jimmy went scurrying around yesterday and discovered that Tommy Loughran, the clever Philadelphia, was perfectly ready and willing to meet Carnera. Loughran may get the shot either on Oct. 1, or Oct. 12, Carnera's manager, Leon See, protested vehemently against the postponement and said Carnera would be prepared to fight Loughran on the first and Sharkey on the 12th.

New State Park

Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—(P)—The State Conservation division today leased Lake Alma, northeast of Wellston, for a new state park and recreational center. The lake covers 80 acres and the state obtained 200 additional acres from Wellston under a 99 year lease. The lake was formed more than a century ago by the damming of Racoon creek.

BOWLS PERFECT GAME

Springfield, Mo.—(P)—Alfred Otis recently rolled Springfield's first 300 score in 40 years in a local bowling alley. Paul Howard, with 296 in a game last season, was credited with the previous high mark.

Rub Game Slated For Next Sunday

The Greenfield and Sabina baseball teams will play the rubber game on the Greenfield diamond Sunday afternoon. A big crowd and sizzling fight is anticipated.

These two teams have met twice before this season and each has a victory on its belt.

Thurman Wical, who hurled the Charlotte, N. C., semi-pro outfit to 15 victories against 3 defeats will be on the mound for Sabina. Cox or Flint will catch.

Dick Wells, who handed the Sabins a lacing in the first game will get the pitching assignment for Greenfield, Smith is to be his battery mate.

Ohio in a Mess On Conservation

Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—(P)—The State Conservation Council today placed full responsibility for the appointment of a State Conservation Commissioner upon the shoulders of State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthrie when it refused to make suggestions to Guthrie.

The action followed the submission by Guthrie of two names for the office to the council and his statement that he intended making the appointment whether the candidate was approved by the council or not.

The committee as a whole of the council, after considering Guthrie's communication, decided that it would make no suggestion to the department of agriculture.

Reeder Printers Beat D. P. and L.

Chilly weather made its appearance at Thursday's softball game. Sixth inning rallies by both contestants favored the Reeder Printers, who won by a score of 6 to 4.

Darkness claimed the game long before it was complete but the enthusiastic crowd enjoyed it more than ever toward the last. The sport of the Dayton Power & Light crew in the early part of the sixth was followed immediately by the slugging Printers, who galloped to victory as the result of the five runs collected in this frame.

The see-saw battle all the way made the game a most interesting one from all angles. Victory seemed assured, until the very last.

Frank O'Boyle started off on the mound for the winners, but was replaced in the second by the Printer's new hurler, Conway. The latter's curves put the Electricians in a tough situation but they took advantage of all breaks.

It took three full innings before either team could warm up enough to push a runner over. Blessing got in safely during the fourth when a fly was dropped in the field. A hit and an error aided Cullen in trying the count in the latter stages of this frame.

After a fairly peaceful fifth, action was resumed to a large extent in the sixth. The Dayton Power & Light ten, first up, got off to a good start by getting Carson, Blessing, and Speaks across on two errors and a hit.

This lead was surpassed, however, when the Reedermen came to bat. Four singles, a double, and two misplays sent them in front as Ford, Turnpseed, O'Boyle, Alkire, and Campbell accounted for runs. The Power ten went down in order in the seventh.

FUND SEGREGATION LIQUIDATION ASKED

Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—(A)—The Toledo Theaters & Realty Co. Thursday asked the state supreme court for a writ of mandamus to compel Ira J. Fulton, state superintendent of banks to segregate trust funds from general assets of the Ohio State Bank & Trust Co. of Toledo, which was taken over for liquidation by the state department, Aug. 17.

The company further charged that Fulton had taken charge of the $28,000 as general fund assets and inasmuch as it was a trust fund it should be segregated and held intact to be applied as interest and taxes on the bonds.

It was understood in the clerk's office of the supreme court that several other similar suits would be filed soon.

HOLD ECONOMIC OUTLOOK MEETINGS

Two meetings of selected groups of farmers are being held in the county this week under the direction of County Agricultural Agent Montgomery. The meetings are being termed, General Economic Outlook Meetings (where an attempt is made to analyze the general economic situation regarding the rise and fall of prices in the past history of the country, a comparison of the present economic depression and prices with those in the past and a analysis of the situation as an indicator of future economic conditions).

The first meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Vocational Agricultural Rooms of the High School in Jeffersonville with an attendance of twenty-five farmers. The meeting Thursday night will be held in the rooms of the local Farm Bureau. Those in attendance at the Wednesday night meeting were: John Cannon, H. L. Little, M. J. Ensign, Roscoe Sears, Paris Custer, Albert Vannorand, Ralph Agle, J. L. Owens, Fred Barker, J. E. Barker, T. A. James, L. T. Korn, Delbert Spears, C. F. Eichelberger, G. W. Blessing, Jesse F. ## NOTES ON GOOD HOPE SCHOOLS

By EVELYN VOSS

At the annual teachers reception given at the Wayne Hall, Frank Grubbs cleverly introduced the teachers characterizing each with an original verse and after an enjoyable evening of games, music and contests all were ushered to the dining hall for refreshments.

The teachers for this year were introduced as follows:

Mr. W. J. Hilly, superintendent of Good Hope and Cisco; Mr. C. H. Heimlich, principal; Mr. R. C. Eckler, Miss Mary Belle Kramer, Mrs. Donna Heimlich, Mr. F. H. Burns, Mrs. Olive Prosch, 5th and 6th grades, Miss Bernice Taylor, 4th and 5th grades, Miss Florence Smalley 2nd and 3rd grades, Miss Ruby Fountain 1st and 2nd grades, Mr. Randle, principal of Cisco, 6-7 and 8 grades, Mrs. Margaret McCoy 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Prosch, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades.

The last year senior class, left to the school, an electric clock, which will be placed in the Study Hall, this year.

Under the supervision of the music director Mrs. Donna Huffman Heimlich, a mixed glee club of thirty five voices has been organized in the high school. Although they have had only few rehearsals they are singing very nicely, some four part music.

An orchestra has been organized and had its first rehearsal Tuesday.

The students of grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 are starting some very interesting music note books, to be used throughout the year.

Good Hope base ball team will play Samatha at Leesburg Wednesday Sept. 30th.

SHIPPING MILK TO COLUMBUS

The Local Dairy and Poultry Cooperative Marketing Association beginning with Wednesday of this week has started delivering a large volume of whole milk from producers of Fayette County to the Moores and Ross Co., in Columbus. Previous to this time, much of the whole milk delivered to the Association had been separated, the cream sold as sweet cream and the skim milk returned to the farmers.

The fact that Columbus is offering an outlet for the farmers produce, and that there is a demand for the whole milk there, indicates states Marketing Association officials, that at least the demand for whole milk in the Columbus area has overtaken the supply and is taken as a very good indication that higher prices are in the offering for farmers on their dairy products. Considerable advancement has been made in the price of milk and butterfat since the low points of last February and March.

The Association during the week handled 1,000 broilers for the two local producers in the western part of the county. About 600 of these were produced by one farmer and 400 by another. These are the two largest numbers of broilers handled for individual producers by the Association for several months. Marketing Association officials state.

ARNOLD WILL FACE CHARGES IN DAYTON

Marshall Arnold, 31, colored, Cincinnati, who was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Curtin, for receiving and concealing a dress stolen from the J. C. Penney store in this city by a couple of women companions of Arnold's, is now in Dayton where he is to face charges of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Two dresses found in Arnold's possession had been stolen from a store in Dayton.

It is understood that Arnold will be taken to Cincinnati after the authorities at Dayton are through with him, and that he will eventually get what his offense merits.

CHARMING MAN—INTERESTING FIGURE

Gandhi and Charlie Chaplin Form Mutual Friendship After Meeting in England

London, Sept. 25. (P)—Mahatma Gandhi, who leads millions toward liberty, and Charlie Chaplin, who makes millions laugh, today cherished a friendship of mutual understanding.

"A very charming man," said Gandhi of Chaplin.
"A most interesting figure," said
Chaplin of Gandhi.

At Chaplin's behest they met for the first time yesterday in the east end home of one of the Indian leader's friends. Adults and children thronged around the house as the film comedian entered and loaded him down with bouquets of garden flowers.

They talked for fifteen minutes
—not about India or the silver screen, but about machinery. Sitting side by side on a sofa, Chaplin told Gandhi he did not understand why the latter championed the use of the spinning wheel in place of modern appliances.

"We might install modern looms like they have in Lancashire," Gandhi told him "but then we would produce more than we need and enforce idleness upon some other part of the world as a result of our over-production."

Their talk was terminated by evening prayers. Gandhi and his English disciple, Mira Behn, knelt and clasped their hands as they intoned their supplications to the God of the Hindus. Chaplin sat quietly by and when it was over he said he was glad he had come.

BROADWAY BRIDE
By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "DEAR DIARY"

CHAPTER 44

NATALIE LAY in the massive bed and wondered about it all. Wondered what Alyn's playboy friends and their cheap girls thought about her . . .
wondered why she cared . . . wondered what the servants in the great house thought . . . wondered why she was concerned about anyone but herself—

There was much to be concerned about herself. Alyn had struck his best friend because of her. She shuddered now that she thought of the previous night, of Alyn, pale and trembling, standing by Bill, who lay on the floor completely stunned by Alyn's fist.

"And all because of me!" Natalie thought, watching the bay tint rose with the early morning sun.

She had slept but a few hours.
An exhaustive, nervous sleep, filled with frightening dreams in which the eyes of Alyn's friends glared at her,
just as they had there in the hall when they knew she had struggled with Bill.

"None of them believed I did not allow him to come into this room. I know they didn't—their accusing eyes!" she cried. "Perhaps not even Alyn believed . . . I wonder . . ."

She turned the terrifying, humiliating occurrence over in her thoughts as she sat up, piling a half dozen of the lacy pillows behind her. A dull ache throbbed in her heart.

She wished she might shut out the sordidness of things. She shut her eyes and kept them closed for a while, trying to think things out.

But the scene in the hall the night before kept its place in the foreground of her mind.

The terror in Alyn's face. Her hysterical repetition of his name. The posing shreds of the torn negligee even in her fright she had realized that his eyes were flames running over her.

She had turned and fled into her sitting room and shut the door!
"I must have been a little mad!"
she sympathized with herself. "More than a little mad . . . but I was so frightened . . . maybe Alyn understood . . ."

But then she remembered how he had allowed her to run out into the night. Had not tried to stop her, nor had he come to fetch her.

"I wish I would find this all is a dream . . . all of it," she ran her sensitive fingers along the silken covers of the bed.

A fragrant breeze swept through the windows, perfumed with wisteria.
Birds hopped on the lawn, close clipped and green.

The persistent thought of Alyn made her heart ache. She could lie no longer in that sick bed with its calmness. She got up and walked to the window.

"I am a fool to expect Alyn to sympathize with me . . . or ever to care, I suppose . . . I might as well stop fooling myself about all of this

. . . I only can mean trouble to him
. . . he doesn't love me . . ."

If the woman is the one to inspire love, the one to be loved, everything is so much easier for both man and woman . . . it seemed hopeless trying to inspire Alyn . . .

It was hard to force any kind of conclusive thought when her head throbbled, when everything was so unbelievable.

"Two days ago I would have said things like this just did not happen," she reflected. "But this is real!"
How did one go about getting from Southampton, Long Island, to New York? When one had no money? That was only one of the things she had to work out.

If Alyn would not consent for her to leave, she would leave just the same—now.

Even in the confusion of her bewildered groping this plan struck her as most unpleasant. As ridiculously melodramatic, but extremely necessary.

"Why, it's so silly!" she said, running the shade at the window higher.
"I haven't a cent and no way of getting money . . . can't telephone Nita without going to some one's house and . . . imagine giving Nita the chance to say something smart . . ."

She knew Nita so well . . . she could imagine what she would say
. . . It was just as if she were talking with Nita . . . about this confused uncertainty . . .

"Don't be stupid! He's a gentleman! He said he'd be decent and he will . . . and if he isn't, why, you could cash in on all the publicity from the squawk you could raise
. . . just take yourself a good rest
. . . good heavens! You've been pounding the pavements long enough.
Uncertainty! Tie that!"

That would be the sort of modern-girl brand of sympathy Nita would give her. Natalie resented even the thought of it.

"Nita isn't worried about me. It was a relief to have me off of her hands and wouldn't she be glad to know I have clothes and food that did not come out of her pocket!"

She remembered once Nita had said—"I know you'll take care of yourself—even if you have to take a parachute jump."

The bay was azure now, and the early sun made it glow. Gulls dipped into it. There were a few fishing boats skimming about.

Thoughts of Nita and her bravado caused a flicker in Natalie's spirits.
She went to the dressing room and found the little one-piece bathing suit Alyn had selected for her the day before. It would be glorious dipping into the azure and rose bay so early—all alone. She slipped out of her pajamas and pulled on the snug little suit, the soft jersey hugging the curves of her body.

It was hard to believe she was the smart looking girl she saw in the mirror . . . in the bit of a suit.

The house was strangely still as she crept down the creaky, heavy carpeted stairs. And the monotonous tick of the grandfather's clock echoed like hammer blows. There was the musty dignity of an antique shop about the house.

She wondered if Alyn were sleeping, or if he went back to town with his carload of friends last night.

"Why should I think of him continually?" she asked herself, and seeing her reflection in the glassed-in front of the old clock at the foot of the stairs gave her new confidence.
She tossed her head, a pretty head, with long blonde hair hanging about her shoulders.

She moved with the swift grace of a cat, hurrying through the door, across the verandah . . . running, until she reached the smooth grassy lawn, and on to the edge of the foamy bay.

The water was not too cold and reasonably clear and smooth. She tried one foot first and then dropped down into its coolness, taking a few swift strokes and then floating. But soon she climbed out in the welcome sun's warmth and stretched full length on the soft grass.

She stretched luxuriously and turned on her back, squinting at the sparkling sky.

When this uncertainty ended—what then?

There the old ache started again
. . . she could only hope for what she had had before . . . the little village apartment with Nita . . .
making coffee in the two-cup percolator, sifting dry cereal from its pasteboard box, pouring off the top of milk for cream . . .

Scanning the Help-wanted . . .
nothing to make a girl happy!

Could she return to Nita, after the luxury of this house, of this vast lawn with its fragrant breezes . . .
could she bear Nita's lording it over her . . . giving her money, giving her clothes . . .

A sense of desolation, of utter helplessness, swept over Natalie. She felt sick and faint for a moment.

This was the sort of heavenly spot
she always had dreamed about . . .
and here was the man she loved!

And what a problem . . . the girl who succumbs to the attraction of a man can not well go about winning that man openly. She needed subtle means.

Alyn was not incapable of loving her . . . he had wanted to kiss her last night when he held her in his arms for a second . . .
She wished he had kissed her . . .
maybe that blending of emotion would have brought understanding . . . it was all a puzzle, which only Alyn's love for her would solve . . .

HOODLUMS CAUGHT IN FRAME-UP

Plot to Defame Judge in Chicago Nipped Before

BLAME DRUGGAN GANG

Confronted by "Rap"
They Go to Extremes

Chicago, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Tribune said today that federal officials have exploded a plot designed by Terry Druggan and other hoodlums associated with him in prohibition and income tax law violations to attempt to damage the character of George E. Q. Johnson, U. S. District attorney, and to obstruct government prosecution of Druggan, Al Capone, Frank Lake and Jack Guzik.

The plot had advanced to the point, the Tribune said, where Druggan intended to testify from the witness stand in Federal court during his income tax evasion trial that he had paid $15,000 to procure immunity from punishment. Druggan planned to swear that his money reached Johnson's office.

The Federal investigation of the reported plot, the Tribune said, had not reached the point where all the names of persons involved could be mentioned. Some of them, the newspaper added, were coerced into the plot, while others entered it either in good faith or in hopes of gaining lighter sentences.

The outstanding facts of the plot, the Tribune said, were that Druggan and Lake were confronted with imprisonment in a Federal penitentiary, and, having fought off punishment this long, were determined to stay free at any cost.

Johnson has been working with high officials of both the Department of Justice and the income tax department in Washington to bring together the circumstances of the conspiracy, the Tribune said.

The first hint of the plot, the Tribune said, was when Harold Hayes, for many years owner of the Metropole Hotel which once served as headquarters for the Capone gang, secretly imparted to government agents a story which was designed to incriminate Johnson and other officials. Investigation showed the Tribune said that the hoodlums were fabricating a baseless conspiracy and that Johnson and his associates were blameless.

SCHOOL HOUSE ROOF CRASHES ON PUPILS

SIXTY CHILDREN INJURED
AS WINDSTORM SWEEPS
RICHMOND, IND.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Crumbling during a severe windstorm, the roof of the high school building at Boston, near here, collapsed late yesterday, and fell into the second story rooms, injuring fifty to sixty pupils, one critically, and at least three seriously.

The building housed 200 students. Most of the injured suffered nothing worse than severe bruises. Physicians at first feared, however, that the injuries of Janice Williams, 14, might prove fatal. After an operation she was much improved, they said today, and probably will recover. Billy Holder, 14, and Lawrence Weller and Ruth Daugherty, both under 14 years of age, were considered in a serious but not a dangerous condition.

Other buildings in Boston, including the Methodist church, the Masonic temple and several homes were unroofed by the storm.

RAH, RAH, EUGENIE!

Atchison, Kas.—(AP)—And now the boys are going to wear them. Empress Eugenie hats, adorned with purple and white plumes, have been decreed the official head gear for freshmen at St. Benedict's College here.

They will replace the little green caps which the freshmen formerly donned to upper classmen.

Woman Of Mystery Makes Appearance In Collins Case Now

Nurse Barricaded for Hours in Apartment Against Police, Finally Agrees to Submit to Questioning If Protected from Reporters and Public Inquest Goes Ahead

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 26.—(AP)—She said she would go to police headquarters if she could be protected from any contact with the press or public.

Police swathed her in blankets so tightly she could scarcely walk and in this manner, looking more like a mummy than a woman, she was half dragged, half carried out of the building and into an automobile.

At Police headquarters she was closeted with local police officials and Assistant District Attorney Fred J. Munder of Suffolk county, Long Island, New York, and Felix Di Martini, Suffolk county's special investigator in the Collins case.

Huntington, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The inquest into the strange murder of Benjamin P. Collins in Long Island Sound reconvened today.

RADIO RIGHTS RADICALS' AIM

Protest Is Filed Against Debs Station Removal
on Technical Charges

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A socialist leader today urged the Radio Commission to permit Liberals to substitute the radio for the soap box.

Norman Thomas, advocating that WEVD, the Eugene V. Debs Memorial Station in New York be kept on the air, said it was very important that there be provision for the extension of minority opinion.

"The advent of radio has changed the situation so that it is idle to say that the right of free speech as I have been told many times, can be met by the right to hire a hall," he said. "What is a soap box compared with a radio station?"

The commission heard Thomas on an application for reversal of an examiner's report recommending removal of the station from the air for technical violations.

Thomas said his own name "often has been produced to show how liberal the National Broadcasting Company really is."

"I have been called the pet radical of M. H. Aylesworth," he continued. "I am a pet radical—but always properly guarded when I appear."

Louis G. Caldwell, representing the station, told the commission that admitted violations of regulations of frequency, announcing phonograph records, and giving call letters, were "trivial and inconsequential" and did not warrant "the death sentence."

SUCCESSOR NAMED FOR OUSTED JUDGE

Columbus, O., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Governor George White today named Cloyd P. McClelland, Columbus attorney, as judge of the Franklin county probate court, to succeed Homer Z. Bostwick who was removed from the bench last week on charges of gross misconduct, nonfeasance and malfeasance in office.

A special bench of three judges ousted Bostwick on petition of some 1,400 voters. The charges against him grew out of his alleged association with Mrs. Opal Eversole Walker, and the recovery of a ring he had presented to her when she was Mrs. Opal Eversole. Bostwick's attorney said they would carry the case to the appeals court, but since the three judges held the probate bench vacant, Governor White had to name a successor.

DO YOU HAVE FAITH?

COUZENS SAYS REFERENDUM
ON PROHIBITION IS TEST.

Detroit, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Senator James Couzens in a statement today discussing the action of the American Legion in asking a referendum on the prohibition law said that "any individual or group who complains about submitting any question to the people cannot have much faith in our form of government."

GOLD RUSH BY WORLD IS PARADOX

International Parley Is Proposed by Britain for Redistribution

AMERICA HOLDS MOST

France Is Next and Then Comes England

By J. R. BRACKETT.

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Gold, that yellow metal for which men went dramatically to death in more romantic days, has indeed become a thing of economics—a metal of quandary and paradox.

Some British financiers have proposed an international conference to consider the redistribution of gold, now so largely held by France and the United States, and for which England has such great need.

Just how the metal, which stands for goods and credits, can be distributed is not explained, but the desire for an international conference does indicate the quandary and the paradox.

The paradox that stands out most sharply is the fact that if England were required to pay her last two international credits of $650,000,000 in gold she would have barely enough of the metal to do it, let alone have enough reserve to back her currency.

International bankers say England need have no fear; that those credits and other credits will be extended or otherwise settled.

England has a net wealth of about $90,000,000,000. Obviously a little thing like $650,000,000 isn't a critical worry in the long run.

This is the money paradox that exists throughout the gold nations of the world. If all the dollars in paper that every citizen now holds were suddenly presented to all the world's banks in exchange for gold, those banks could not make payment.

The paper money is legally backed by gold reserve varying from 30 to 40 per cent in various countries. The balance of the backing is credit—which is to say, faith. The nations of the world have great confidence in the United States. They have therefore placed their gold in our vaults so that we have more than two-fifths of the world's supply of monetary metal.

AND THERE HE GOES!

MAJOR DOOLITTLE GOES FROM ST LOUIS TO INDIANAPOLIS
IN 52 MINUTES

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Major James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle, who left St. Louis at 9:35 a. m. today, landed at the Indianapolis municipal airport at 10:27 a. m., covering the 240 miles in 52 minutes. The transcontinental record holder came here to attend the dedication of the new airport.

Doolittle broke the record between St. Louis and Indianapolis, which was 6 minutes, established by Captain Frank W. Hawks, who flew in the opposite direction.

WHISKEY FOR VOTE!

THAT'S WHAT WORKERS FOR
NILES G. O. P. CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR PAID

Warren, O., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Jake Yerman, testifying before the Trumbull county board of elections in its investigation of alleged illegal voting in Niles "roaring third" ward, said a drink of whiskey for each vote cast for E. C. Ferguson, Republican candidate for Mayor of Niles was offered by Ferguson's election workers at the primary last August.

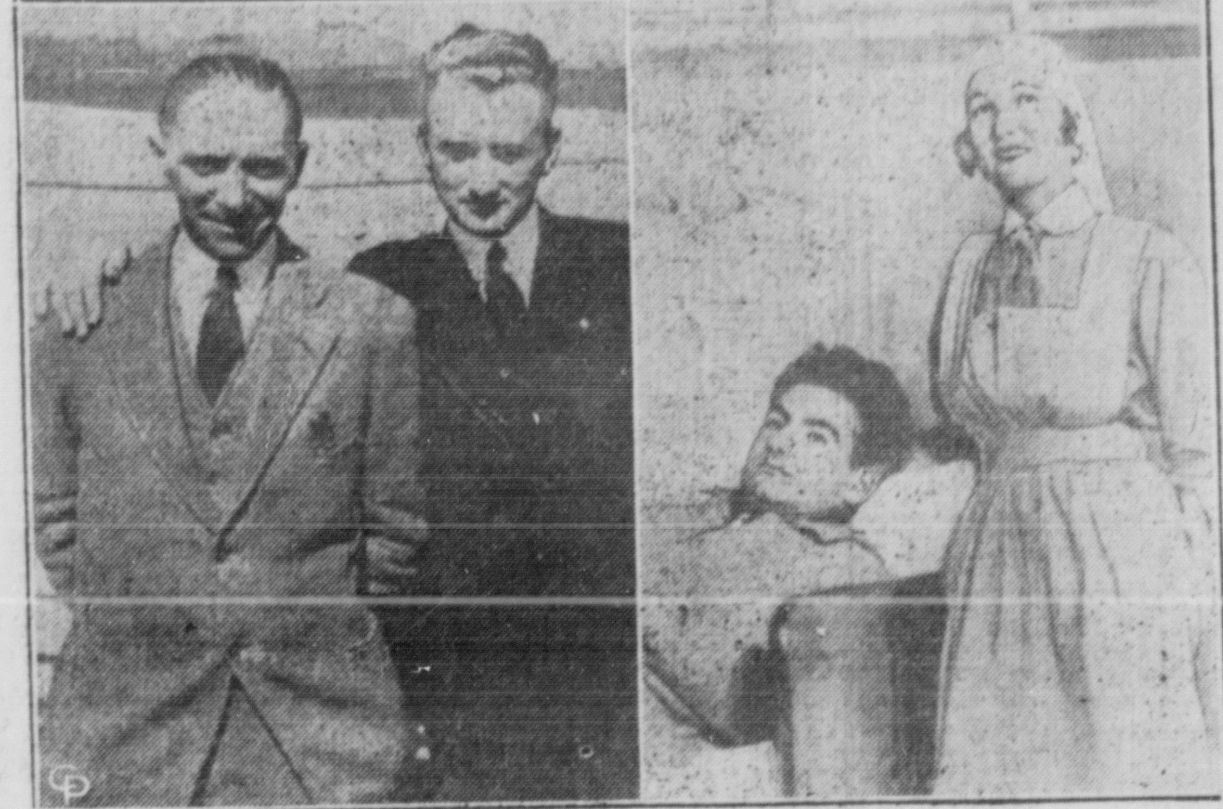

Yerman said Rudy Prinz came to the Yerman home two days before the primary and told Yerman that he was working for Ferguson and was offering a "shot" of liquor to each voter who cast a ballot for Ferguson.

Yerman also told the board that Prinz called for him on primary day and transported him in an automobile to the voting place.

He said that he also knew of others who received drinks of whiskey for voting for Ferguson.

The election board will certify the testimony over to prosecutor G. Birrell who said after the hearing that if evidence warrants he will seek grand jury indictments.

RESCUED SEA FLYERS ARRIVE IN UNITED STATES

Wary, but happy to be alive, Willy Rody, German aviator, and his two companions, arrive in New York on the Stavangerfjord, steamship which rescued them after they had clung to the wreckage of their transatlantic plane for seven days, when the land plane crashed, 92 miles off Newfoundland. Photos show, left, Christian Johansen and Rody, and, right, Fernando Costa Viegas, with his nurse, Hilda Bruno. Viegas was injured when mountainous waves hurled him against the airplane engine, bruising his leg.

LINDBERGH NARROWLY ESCAPES WITH LIFE WHEN HE LANDS IN CHINESE FLOOD AREA STARVING NATIVES ALMOST CRUSH PLANE

For Month Thousands of These People Have Lived
Afloat on Flood Waters.

Nanking, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A crying, starving throng surrounded the plane of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when it landed on flood waters near Hingwa, northern Kiangsu province, today and for a time it was feared the craft would be seriously damaged and even its occupants harmed.

Coming in sampans, tubs and anything floatable, the throng surged around the plane, snatching at packages it contained. The desperately hungry natives wanted food and were bitterly disappointed when they learned the plane brought only medical supplies.

Col. Lindbergh, Dr. Heng Lu, director of the National Flood Relief Commission's department of hygiene and sanitation, and Dr. J. N. Grant, American faculty member of the Peiping Union Medical College, who made the flight, took off almost immediately to return to Nanking, deciding they could do nothing except to save the plane from possible damage.

Hingwa has been flooded for nearly a month, its residents being forced to make their way around in various watercraft.

Speaking of the incident, Col. Lindbergh said:

"It was the most heart rending experience of my career."

He said it was not the possible (Continued on Page Three.)

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY IS HELD FOR MURDER

Bakersfield, Calif., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Bobby Labourd, 9, faced a term in a state institution today as a result of the drowning of a 6 year old playmate in a mill ditch here last Monday.

Superior Judge Erwin W. Owen said Bobby confessed yesterday he pushed the victim, George Taylor Leistikow, into the ditch because he "wanted to tag me to a movie."

"I shoved him into the canal," he said, "and watched his body go under the street. Then I threw his shoes in after him and went to the movie."

DRY RAIDERS BEATEN BY IRATE PATRONS

Rochester, N. Y., —(AP)— Three prohibition agents raiding an establishment known as Ye Olde Tea Room today encountered a resentful crowd of patrons and had to be rescued by a riot squad from police headquarters.

Martin Lemler, the only agent whose name was revealed, was severely bruised about the face and body. He said he was knocked down and kicked by the angry crowd, many of them said by police to students at a nearby technical school. The other agents also were beaten.

DRY ISSUE THREATENS CONGRESS

Prohibition Suddenly Put in Limelight Faces Legislative Test

BOTH SIDES ARE BUSY

Repeal Bill Promised in Face of New Dry Law

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The thrusting forward early of prohibition as a controversial issue has been promised the next congress.

From the wester of discussion trailing the American Legion's demand for a referendum on the liquor question arose today a pledge by an anti-prohibitionist that a bill for repeal of the Volstead act would be introduced soon after congress convenes. It came from Representative Britten, of Illinois.

On the other side of the fence, Senator Sheppard of Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, expects to resurrect his bills making the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller and also clarifying the Volstead act to prohibit liquor making in the home.

At Omaha, Nebraska, the veteran Texas prohibitionist predicted the Legion's action would have slight effect. He asserted an overwhelming majority of both houses of congress would oppose submission of prohibition to the voters.

Representative Britten saw in the Legion's vote the "deathknell" of prohibition. He asserted if the service organization and the American Federation of Labor would use "their tremendous persuasive power" they could bring about repeal of the Volstead law during the impending congressional session.

Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, said repeated statements by wet newspapers that President Hoover would continue to support prohibition for political reasons was a tacit confession "that the majority of the voters of this country are dry."

Meanwhile, a natchup upon the Legion by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church's Temperance Board, asserting "numbers of staggering drunks disgraced the uniform and yelled for beer" drew a counter-charge from the league for modification of the Volstead act.

"I would suggest that Dr. Wilson put his own house in order and confine his criticisms to those of his organization who vote dry and drink wet," said former Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, national chairman of the league.

OHIO MINE STRIKE TRUCE IS DECLARED

EFFORTS AT ARBITRATION GOING FORWARD AT STATE CAPITAL.

Athens, O., Sept. 26.—(AP)—While efforts at arbitration went forward at Columbus, a truce was in effect here today in the mine disturbance growing out of the strike Tuesday of miners against the Sunday Creek Coal Company.

Cessation of hostilities, pending outcome of the Columbus conference, were agreed upon when Oral Daugherty, mine labor superintendent, addressed miners picketing the company's No. 6 mine at Millfield.

Daugherty said the company would not attempt to get workers to the mine today but that men already at the shaft would be kept there.

Strikers agreed not to molest trucks bearing food to the working miners, nor cars carrying maintenance men and foremen.

Meanwhile, company officials and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America were closeted together with state officials at Columbus in efforts toward settlement of the dispute.

Governor White today presented a plan for settlement of the bituminous coal strike in Athens county which was approved by the Sunday Creek Coal Company, operators, and officials of the United Mine Workers of America but which yet must obtain the approval of the strikers.

The Governor recommended that James Berry, State Mine Superintendent, and Colonel J. S. Shepler of the Ohio National Guard call out of Europe what cannot be gotten out of her."

The Week's Attraction At Washington's Theatres

Only a bird in a gilded cage—but Janet Gaynor's little songster helps her to win the heart of Charles Farrell, the eccentric musician in "Merely Mary Ann," at the Fayette Sunday, Monday, Tuesday.

FAYETTE

A real treat for movie fans will be offered this coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Fayette theater, with the opening of the Fox romance, "Merely Mary Ann," starring those favorite screen sweethearts, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, in co-roles. The stars of "7th Heaven," "Street Angel" and "Sunny Side Up." There will be only one matinee, Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

The picture, which was adapted from Israel Zangwill's play, tells the charming story of the love affair between a shy little servant girl in a London boarding house and a brilliant but unrecognized composer and affords both stars great opportunity for the display of their talents.

Comedy-romance with a new twist is provided local film fans with the current showings of "The Brat" at the Fayette Theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

With the vivacious Sally O'Neill in the title role, "The Brat" offers plenty of laughs and suspense as it details the adventures of an impudent little Bowery girl in Long Island society. Allan Dinehart, Frank Albertson, William Collier, Sr., Virginia Cherrill, June Collyer, Farrell Macdonald, Mary Forbes, Albert Gran and other favorites are in the cast of the production, the screen version of Maud Fulton's successful stage play of the same name which John Ford directed for Fox Films.

Loretta Young, romantic lead in "Too Young to Marry" the First National production which comes to the Fayette Theater Friday and Saturday next, is not only one of Hollywood's most beautiful stars, she is one of the arbiters of style. Her clothes are so well chosen and so swankily worn that she is under the eye of debs, sub-debs and dowagers every waking hour of the day and night. Simplicity is the keynote of her success in style and on the screen.

In "Too Young to Marry" she plays the part of the wilful daughter who gets married to her boy friend while her mother is off at the movies and her benighted father is a bit under the influence of hard cider. Grant Withers—Miss Young's husband in real life—plays the part of the boy-friend. Others in the great cast are O. P. Heggie, Emma Dunn, Richard Tucker, Lloyd Neal, J. Farrell McDonald, Virginia Sale and Aileen Carlisle, Mervyn LeRoy directed.

"Tol'able David," the immortal classic by Joseph Hergesheimer, is now an all-talking picture. The Palace Theater will show it for three days beginning Sunday.

An all-star cast was assembled by Columbia Pictures to interpret the familiar characters in this universal favorite. Richard Cromwell, an unknown boy, plays the title role. All who have seen the performance of this youngster in preview showings have declared it sensational. He is heralded as a "find," and a brilliant future is predicted for him.

The feminine lead is handled by Joan Peers. Little Miss Peers is a recent recruit from the New York stage. She has firmly entrenched herself in pictures by her splendid performances in "Applause" and "Anybody's War," two Paramount features, and recently added to her laurels in the Columbia feature "Rain or Shine," in which she played opposite Joe Cook.

The supporting cast includes such distinguished players as Henry B. Walthall, Helen Ware and Edmund Breese, stars in their own right, who have headed some of the finest New York productions of recent years. George Duryea and Noah Beery are others who appear in important roles. John G. Blystone directed.

Packed with excitement, crammed with human interest, silhouetted against a timely background, "That's 'The Flood,'" Columbia's newest picture featuring Eleanor Boardman and Monte Blue, the Palace's attraction for Wednesday and Thursday. Taking as his theme the annual overflow of the Mississippi River, Jack Neville, the author of this unusual story, has created a plot that is outstanding. And every person who has visited the South will recognize the true-to-life characters depicted in this picture.

Interest in the story is centered about pretty Joan Marshall. She keeps a clandestine appointment with an adventurer and is driven from home by small town gossip on the night the Mississippi levees break. David Bruce, a young engineer, saves her life and she marries him. They return to Joan's home town and the story develops a startling climax, which is punctuated by another torrent.

Eleanor Boardman makes Joan a charming flesh-and-blood heroine and Monte Blue is ideally cast as the likeable engineer. David Newell scores in the role of the phillander. William V. Mong, Ethel Wales and Frank Sheridan deserve special mention. James Tinning's direction is splendid.

GUN FIGHT WOUNDS CAUSE MAN'S DEATH

Portsmouth, O., (P)—Wounds received in a gun battle at Slab Run three years ago caused the death of Green Willis, 52, former Scioto county deputy sheriff Thursday. Edward Burton, 22, Magoffin County, Kentucky, is serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary for killing Henry Bendine, another deputy sheriff who took part in the fight.

HOLD RACE DRIVER ON ARSON CHARGE

Columbus, O., (P)—William B. Wolf, 28, automobile race driver, was held Saturday on charges of arson and malicious destruction of property arising from the burning of the grandstand and judges' platform at the New Bremen, O., speedway last Sunday. He was arrested on warrants charging responsibility for a riot that resulted in the firing of the two structures.

WON'T PAY GAS BILL

COALTON CONSUMERS REFUSE TO ACCEPT RATE BOOST PENDING ADJUSTMENT

Coalton, O., Sept. 26.—(P)—For the second time in as many months, the gas consumers at Coalton have refused to pay their bills to the Ohio Fuel Gas Company on the basis of higher rates placed in effect two months ago.

The consumers last month offered to pay the old rates, but the company refused to accept the payment and later suggested payment of the new rates, the advance to be impounded pending final determination of the controversy. The citizens rejected the proposition.

It all resulted from the city council authorizing higher rates and then when the consumers raised objections repealing the ordinance and putting the old rates back into force. The company claims it should receive the higher rates.

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR SENIOR CLASS

PAUL JONES PRESIDENT AND ROBT. MINSHALL VICE-PRES.

Organization of the Senior Class of Washington High School got underway this year earlier than usual. A meeting of the members of the 1932 class chose the main officers on Friday afternoon.

This year's class, which now totals about 100, will probably be the largest ever to be graduated from the local school.

Officers chosen by the seniors include the following: Paul Jones, president; Robert Minshall, vice-president; Henry Pearce, secretary-treasurer. Billie Dial was elected editor of the Sunburst and Harold Hazard will be the advertising solicitor.

The Fayette Theater presents "Too Young to Marry" next Friday and Saturday, based on the play by Martin Flavin. Cast includes Loretta Young, Grant Withers, O. P. Heggie, Emma Dunn, J. Farrell McDonald, Lloyd Neal, Richard Tucker, Virginia Sale and Aileen Carlisle.

CHINESE PRESIDENT HONORS LINDBERGH

Nanking, Sept. 26.—(P)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of China, received Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at the National government offices here today.

As a token of admiration of his distinguished record and in appreciation of his volunteer services in cause of flood relief in China the National government council voted to award Lindbergh China's newly established aviation medal.

Lindbergh will be the first aviator, foreign or Chinese, to receive the medal. Chiang Kai-Shek is expected to present the decoration at a ceremony in the government offices tomorrow.

WIND AND HAIL SWEEP COUNTY

Stones of Unusual Size Fall in City

Accompanied by a heavy down-pour of rain, considerable wind, and electrical display, a severe hail storm swept a path across Fayette county from west to east, around six o'clock Friday evening, and hail stones as large as hickory nuts and some said to have been as large as small walnuts fell over a considerable area, including in this city, where leaves were torn from trees in great abundance, and window glass threatened with destruction.

A few automobiles had holes punctured in the top, but generally little damage was done.

The wind was very violent for a short time, and the leaves torn from trees were plastered against buildings and other objects.

A short distance north of the city there was no hail and it did not extend far south of the city.

While the storm covered the western half of the county there was a great deal of lightning.

HAMILTON IS HIT BY HEAVY STORM

Hamilton, O., (P)—Hamilton was repairing damage Saturday from a storm that took one life, damaged communication facilities, disrupted electric light service and blew down many trees and signs, late Friday. James Kelly, 74, Middletown, died of cerebral hemorrhage caused by excitement.

GIRL BRIDE TAKEN HOME BY FATHER

Cleveland, O., (P)—Joseph Reimell, 22, of Rochester, N. Y., languished in police station here Saturday, arrested at the request of the father of his 15-year-old bride, Ruth Selke, whom he married at Buffalo last week. At that time the girl gave her age as 22. Selke took his daughter home, saying he would press a kidnapping charge.

Boundary Walls Crumble before Modern Ideas

- Ancient nations rated their strength in terms of forbidding frontier defenses. Newer empires built on the firmer foundation of relations with their neighbors.
- For the commonwealths which comprise the United States, frontier walls are unthinkable. The nation finds its greatness in the close community of interest between the various states.
- Unimpeded communication and interchange of news between the various sections are important factors in welding together this country. Good will between north, south, east and west comes hand in hand with knowledge of conditions, events and personalities. American newspapers continue to play a vital part in this public service.
- THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, unhampered by sectional interests or controversial advocacy, enables member newspapers to present daily a comprehensive picture of the world news. Its dispatches, unbiased and impartial, serve to supply the nation with the facts so vitally necessary to mutual understanding and unity.

FEED PRICES HAVE DECLINED MORE THAN HOG PRICES BUT FIGURES SHOW NUMBER OF SWINE IS ON INCREASE

Swine Outlook for Next Two Years Is Given by Montgomery

FEEDING PROFITABLE

65 to 75 Per cent of Farm Revenue Comes from Hogs, Is Claim

By W. W. MONTGOMERY
Hogs in Fayette County produce from 65 to 75% of the gross income on farms. Twenty farmers in the county keeping farm account records in 1930, had 66% of the gross income from hogs, 13% from cows and 11% from poultry, making a total of more than 90% from live stock alone.

In view of the importance of hog feeding in the county, a discussion of the prospects for hogs during this fall's marketing season should prove valuable for the producer.

Factors that seem to be important at the present time are:

The number of hogs on farms, and the hog products in storage are larger than a year ago but smaller than average.

Number of hogs in the important European countries are larger than tendency, combined with out falling off in exports, has what have been considered a small supply of pork during the years 1924 to 1928, seem rather burdensome.

EXPORTS LESS

Increasing hog production in European countries, particularly Germany, Denmark and Holland, has caused our export trade to fall off quite noticeably. Our total exports of all hog products during the marketing year just ending has been the smallest in 30 years. Exports of pork in the calendar year to date were 49 per cent less than a year ago for the same period, and the exports of lard were 20 per cent less. During 1930 our foreign trade in pork products was about 40 per cent less than in 1929. The falling off in export demand this year has been most pronounced in the supply of bacon sent to markets in Great Britain, due to competition from Danish bacon and the market for lard exports to Germany where lard production has increased.

Exports of pork products have been only about half as great this year so far as in 1930.

There has been a decline in the general price level of all commodities which has caused agricultural prices to drop faster than others. These factors have combined to bring the level of hog prices considerably below last year but still favorable in relation to the price of feed.

In June the spring pig survey indicated that there were about 2 1/2 per cent more pigs saved in the United States than in the previous spring. The increase in the corn belt where the largest supply of hogs originate was almost 4 per cent.

It is only natural to expect that if our crop is 2 1/2 per cent larger, this increase in number will be reflected in hog marketings this fall larger than a year ago, unless there is a much larger number of hogs saved for breeding purposes this fall.

The spring pig survey indicates also that farmers are planning to increase hog production. The number of sows bred or to be bred for fall farrowing show large gains, particularly in the wheat producing areas of the Great Plains States.

The number of these sows which actually farrow and the success which these men have in carrying these pigs through the winter will determine in a large measure how large marketings of hogs will be in the first half of 1932. It seems fairly certain that we have passed the low point in the hog production cycle and that marketings late in 1931 and in 1932 will show increases over the previous year.

COURT OF REVIEW FOR BOY SCOUTS

Fayette County Boy Scouts will hold a Court of Review, Tuesday night, September 29 in the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30.

All Scouts desiring to receive their awards at the December Court of Honor should make every effort to appear Tuesday evening for review for the Second Class, First Class, Merit Badges and higher awards.

The Court will be in charge of Percie Pearce, who is Chairman of the Court of Review for Fayette County.

CONSUMER DEMAND

A decline in the demand for pork began early in 1930 and has continued into 1931. During the ten months beginning October, 1930 the consumption of pork and lard has been about 5 per cent less than for the similar period beginning in October, 1929. This period, too, was lower in consumption than the one beginning in October, 1928; in fact, the consumer demand for pork since October of last year has been at the lowest level that it has reached in the last nine years. ## Local Committee to Be Named to Promote U. S. Adherence

The dinner and meeting sponsored by the Ohio Branch of the League of Nations Association at the Cherry Hotel, Friday evening, met with a gratifying success and in accordance with its aim, attracted twenty-two men and women representing various organizations of the city. Mrs. David S. Craig, as Fayette County president of the League of Women Voters, arranged the details of the dinner, served at 6:00 o'clock in the private dining room of the hotel.

The object of the meeting was to create discussion of the League of Nations and the World Court, two major problems facing the country. The chief speaker for the evening was John S. Moore, of Dayton, Regional Director of the League of Nations Association, and he was accompanied by Rev. Edwin Wilson, also of Dayton, speaking on the Disarmament Conference.

Mrs. Craig introduced Belford Carpenter, presiding officer for the evening, who in turn introduced Mr. Moore.

For three summers Mr. Moore sat in the press gallery of the League of Nations and watched 54 nations devise a new method of cooperation. He saw and heard Briand, MacDonald, Lord Cecil, Count Adami, Count Apponyi, Procopio and other great statesmen of the world working together day after day to create the new institutions of peace. Mr. Moore was a member of the Sherwood Eddy party in 1926 visiting 13 European countries and returned to Geneva in 1928 and 1929 as a special correspondent.

Mr. Moore explained that the League was organized after the war to promote international cooperation. He quoted a fifty-thousand dollar membership fee and a pledge of cooperation with the assembly in electing judges every nine years as the requirements for membership in the World Court. A vote on joining the World Court comes up before Congress in December and the outcome was described as an important step toward the Disarmament Conference to be held the first of next year.

Mr. Moore's address was followed with a great deal of interest and at its conclusion a motion was adopted by the assemblage to appoint a committee of five, representing various organizations of the city, to study the promotion of public sentiment in this community towards the importance and advantages of joining the World Court.

Rev. Wilson's address was of equal importance and was followed with an enthusiastic interest.

PACKING 100,000 CANS EACH DAY

At the present time the Fayette Canning Company is packing 100,000 cans or more of tomatoes each day, and the pack will last for another two weeks if there is not a killing frost.

Recently the quality of tomatoes has improved considerably, and the pack will be a large one this year.

The company is employing more than three score women in preparation rooms.

The tomatoes are first scalded in a steam box, peeled and all defects removed, placed in the cans, sterilized, sealed and then subjected to cooking for approximately thirty minutes.

REPLACING FIRE WALLS OF BUILDING

Workers are engaged in rebuilding the fire walls of the Dayton Power and Light Company's building in south Fayette street.

The structure was erected a few years ago during cold weather, and as a result of mortar freezing, the fire walls were becoming unsafe, and rebuilding was launched this week.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF CHATTEL PROPERTY

The Frank L. Stutson Co., Plaintiff, vs. A. O. Zimmerman, et al, Defendant.

Terms of Sale: Cash. Taken as the property of A. O. Zimmerman, et al, to satisfy an execution in favor of The Frank L. Stutson Co.

O. S. MINTON, Sheriff of Fayette County, Ohio.

MEN GO TO WORK ESCAPE ARREST

Township Trustee Bringing Pressure to Bear

Two men who recently applied to the Union township trustees for assistance, both having families of several children, were given the alternative of going to work at once or being arrested on vagrancy charges and sent to the workhouse.

Both claimed to be physically unfit for work, and a physician was asked to look them over. The physician pronounced them capable of work, and everything was set for filing formal charges against them when they chose the alternative of working to support themselves and families rather than going to prison.

Township Trustee John Weade, back of the plan to make the pair self supporting, has declared that he has grown weary of dealing with such applicants for township aid, and where work is obtained and the head of a household fails to work when able to do so, that charges will be filed against such persons with a view to giving them a term in the workhouse.

The Red Cross is collaborating in the effort to make as many as possible self-supporting, and is rendering no assistance at the present time, and will do so only where satisfied that aid is really needed.

danger that worried him and his companions as much as it was the realization of their helplessness when confronted by such a welter of human misery so near starvation and unable even to understand the humanitarian purpose of the visit.

Hingham is 70 miles northeast of Nanking and almost in the center of the lowest point of the basin between the Grand Canal and Yellow Sea. Normally it is a thriving market town. It is the county seat of Hingham county which prior to the flood had a population of 600,000.

Mrs. Lindbergh missed the trying experience. She remained at Nanking when the party took off earlier in the day, deciding Dr. Liu and Dr. Grant would need the space she might occupy.

The inundation of Hingham began six weeks ago, but the situation became critical when the Grand Canal dykes, 30 miles west of there, broke August 25, and the rushing canal waters steadily filled the basin. Hingham is now under ten feet of water.

FRANCO-GERMAN PEACE NOW AIM

active youth. He is 47. With France solidly backing his ideas, he will be able to tell Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Curtius that the French republic wishes sincerely to collaborate with its great neighbor, Germany.

Both Briand and Laval are radicals in their upbringings and both have been socialists. No Frenchmen could better serve as messengers of the people. They will speak the voices of the people of France—of the "man in the street" as well as of the French government.

Some anxiety has been voiced in Paris as to how Laval and Briand will be received by the people of Germany and whether or not Fascist followers of Adolf Hitler might not stage manifestations against France.

But most observers have scouted as absurd any fears of expressed hostility. They have pointed out that the Franco-German cooperation project has already advanced further than officially admitted and that the conference in Berlin was likely to promote not only a good feeling between France and Germany but also practical economic understandings.

come tax evasion case in which he was sentenced to three years and fined $10,000. At the same time Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson denied a motion by Al Capone's attorney that the government desist from questioning grand jury witnesses who might be used in his forthcoming income tax trial, now set for hearing on October 6.

Judge Wilkerson ruled that since the proceedings of the grand jury were secret and might uncover other evidence for the trial, the interrogation of witnesses could proceed.

The elder Capone was convicted last April 26 of not paying taxes on an income which government witnesses testified was at least $1,871,000 between 1924 and 1929.

CHAPTER 45

NATALIE reluctantly pulled herself up from the velvet-smooth grass. The sun was getting up quite high now. The household would be stirring. The little maid Alyn had assigned to her no doubt would be tipping into her bedroom to draw the curtains.

She felt a little pleased at the thought of Marie's surprise to find her out so early.

Natalie was one of those persons who can enjoy fruit, toast, eggs and coffee early in the morning. And the swim she had just had did not lessen that early-morning appetite. Not even the forlorn thoughts of Alyn.

Perhaps one was supposed not to get hungry when she was not getting on with her love. But Natalie was not like that. Besides, she had gone to bed without dinner . . .

But it was so pleasant in the sunshine with the soft breeze. Should she return to the house she would have to take off the snug bathing suit . . . and perhaps Alyn would have a car and chauffeur waiting to take her back to Nita, and New York!

"If I go—I should, at least, like to know I went of my own accord," she definitely decided. "But I can't . . . I have no money for train fare!"

There were still too many things to plan for her to return to the house, even though she could enjoy breakfast.

She decided she would walk about the dunes, and the long winding beach of yellow sand, which extended beyond the grassy estate of the Brady family.

She would climb the dunes and let the wind blow her hair dry. Perhaps she would wave at some boat far out in the bay . . . who was that woman of long ago who waved at passing ships? It did not matter . . . nothing mattered . . . everything seemed mixed up . . . the real and the unreal.

Perhaps later in the day she would have a talk with Alyn . . .

Sunshine like this was made for those who were happy. And that fragrant breeze. But when one was rascable the joyous sunshine and wind only emphasized the hurt.

Natalie half lounged at the top of a dune, lifting the ribbons of her hair to the breeze until it was dry and golden and blew about her head like the golden petals of a large chrysanthemum.

She drew zig-zag designs in the dry sand, sometimes using her fingers, sometimes her bare toes.

Could she ever win the man she wanted—other girls had. It seemed that was all she had to look forward to—winning Alyn.

She was letting her thoughts air out. Her brain seemed to be relaxing. She rested her head on her arm where it folded at the elbow. . . . For nearly an hour she had lain prone in the searing sun. She had tried to think what would be best for her to do, but she was no nearer a conclusion.

If it were possible for her to return to New York without any sort of triumph on Alyn's part, or her own, she would not be a bit happier . . .

She always would think of that moment when he held her so close . . . she could feel his heart beating . . .

Always she would be trying to think out a way to make him care . . . or want to care.

Yet, she knew that as things were it was hopeless, his caring as she would have him care . . . as every girl hopes the man she loves will care . . .

"Please hold your head up a little," a pleasant masculine voice said.

Startled, Natalie turned nervously. Curiosity and fear mingled in her feelings as she looked down the dune behind her, then to the side.

She was so frightened that it did not occur to her to pretend nonchalance, or what is more effective in such a situation, naivete.

She saw a man sitting in front of an easel . . . thirtyish . . . brown eyes and dark hair, wind blown . . . mouth cut in clean curves . . . white teeth, gleaming in his bronzed face.

He wore a dark blue bathing suit and white duck trousers.

"You make a good model," the sun-browned man said, his white teeth showing prominently as he smiled.

"I had no idea anyone—"

"I know you didn't—but I've been here since very early, even before you came along," he answered.

There was certainly nothing villainous in this man's appearance, nothing very remarkable, either.

He was smiling up at her with complete friendliness.

Natalie swallowed hard, unable to answer.

The man got up from his easel and began climbing up the dune to where she sat.

Under his smiling eyes she was conscious of her brief bathing suit, which had not quite dried from her swim in the bay.

It clung compromisingly close to her body, revealing every curve. She hoped this stranger would think the blush that covered her where the suit left off was only a new sunburn.

She started to get up and try to run away before he reached the top of the dune where she was. She half rose but he detained her with: "Please don't leave. I didn't mean to run you away from your sun perch."

He came nearer, the wind blowing his tousled hair.

"Besides, I've not finished my picture of you."

She could not help smiling in her confused surprise.

"Won't you come have a look at yourself?" he persuaded, his friendly tone of voice making her feel more at ease and less ashamed in the form fitting suit.

"I guess I can't resist seeing myself as you've seen me," she acquiesced.

Natalie got up and started down the dune toward the easel. She felt his eyes appraising her as she walked on the moist sand, cautiously picking her way as her feet were tender and unaccustomed to the pebbles and bits of broken shells.

He took long easy strides ahead of her and reached the easel in the lead. He watched her quizzically as she tripped up to the drawing.

"Oh," escaped her as she looked at the slim, lounging figure, which reclined so boldly in its charcoal medium.

"You don't like—yourself?" he said quickly, a little disappointed.

"But I don't look like that—" she said, her eyes fastened on the familiar long-limbed girl portrayed with a few deft lines.

"But you do—to me."

"But—I'm not nearly so tall or—" "Or shapely?" he finished the sentence for her.

She blushed and became more conscious than ever of the brevity of her suit.

"You are lovelier than I've drawn you," he said, "but I haven't finished the picture yet."

Their eyes met with a sort of challenge and Natalie half wished she had not come. She unconsciously made a motion of departure.

"Oh, you won't leave—not now," he stepped a bit nearer.

"I think I'd better—I—" she was embarrassed by the intimate drawing, which pictured the roundness of her thighs, where the suit wrinkled into the fold of her legs.

"But you can't—you mustn't . . . I beg of you," he said anxiously. "I must finish this—it's one of the best things I've ever done . . ."

MYSTERY WOMAN MAKES APPEARANCE IN COLLINGS CASE

with Herbert Collings, brother of the slain man on the witness stand. He was followed by Dr. Otto H. Schultz, who performed the autopsy on Collings' body.

Collings told of officially identifying his brother's body after it had been washed ashore ten days ago.

He knew of no enemies his brother had, no affairs with other women, and no reason for the strange murder.

Dr. Schultz testified the immediate cause of death was drowning, and that a contributing cause was binding of the victim's hands.

Asked by District Attorney Blue about evidence of blows on Collings' head Dr. Schultz stood up and declared:

"That is beside the point gentlemen. The finding is death by drowning—goodbye."

And with that he walked from the room. The inquest then was adjourned until October 2.

After adjournment of the inquest, Prosecutor Blue said that except for one clue being followed by his assistants in New Jersey, the investigation to discover who killed Collings and why remains at a standstill.

All he knew of the New Jersey angle was that the chief of police of Bayonne, N. J., had informed his office that it might be worth while to question a woman there who believed could tell them something important, he said.

Objections of Mrs. Collings to further testimony added complications to the inquest.

Mrs. Collings, nervous, and almost at the point of collapse after three hours of questioning yesterday, turned to her father-in-law, H. P. Collings, and her attorney, William A. Kelly, at adjournment and said: "I am not going on the stand again today and I don't promise to come back here either."

Mr. Kelly later said: "Mrs. Collings will not go back again at any time under present conditions."

Kelly objected to the publicity given his client at public hearings before Coroner William Gibson.

"I can't force her to come," commented Alexander G. Blue, district attorney of Suffolk county, who questioned her at the inquest. "But I hope to have her on the stand again next week."

A Suffolk grand jury convenes Monday, but Mr. Blue would not say whether he would present the Collings case to the jury.

Mrs. Collings told the coroner of events on the Collings cruiser Penguin as it lay off Lloyd's Neck, Sept. 9.

Blue said Mrs. Collings had not added a single clue to his knowledge of the case, adding:

"But I haven't discontinued my outside investigations."

Blue's plans for today were to question at the inquest, Herbert Collings, the slain man's brother, who identified the body when it floated ashore a week later.

XENIA MAN HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Cincinnati—(AP)—Police have arrested Arthur Euell, 45, Xenia, and charged him with first degree murder in the death of Allen Wells, 65, Loveland, Sept. 13. They said Euell shot Wells when he went to the Wells' home to get his (Euell's) wife, who had left him in the spring.

STANDARD ADDING ADDITIONAL TANKS

The Standard Oil Company is installing two additional tanks of 2,000 gallons each, at its service station corner of West Court and Hinde street, and when the work of installing the huge tanks is completed, the capacity of the plant will be 7,000 gallons, or the greatest of any service station in the city.

As the tanks must go under the ground at least 3 1/2 feet a hole 8 1/2 feet in depth was dug to accommodate the first of the tanks which is five feet in diameter. The second tank will be installed within a short time.

The American Student

In Europe the term "student" is one of respect applied to those believed to be making sacrifices in obtaining an education; here the student is not regarded so highly.

Someone is mistaken or misinformed. Most Americans have been under the impression that in Europe, from the days of Francois Villon to the recent Viennese riots, the student has been regarded as a scatterbrain hellion, addicted to wine, women and song, delighting in turbulence and claiming by ancient tradition the right to chastise the police whenever he is so disposed. He obtains an education, to be sure, but by the process of sacrificing everybody else to the great objective; as for himself, he has a thundering good time.

How different is the picture of the American student! There are specimens of the traditional European type in every college and university in the United States, but as a whole American students exhaust their skull-cracking propensities as sophomores and are more addicted to assembling in solemn conclave and listening to dry lectures than to the Heidelberg and Paris bohemian life. The American student has been slandered as a matter of fact.

Steadily Growing Air Mail

The air mail has outlived the first impetus of novelty to become an accepted convenience and is steadily increasing in volume, although other classes of mail have been below the pre-depression normal.

Eighteen per cent more air mail was carried during the first four months of this year than during the corresponding period of nineteen thirty, an amazing gain considering the fact that business correspondence makes up the bulk of this mail

The air-mail service is still the backbone of commercial aviation in America. With one or two possible exceptions, the most successful air transport systems are those that combine a mail contract with their passenger-carrying business. Mail can be carried at a profit, passengers are often carried at a loss.

Low air-mail postal rates are made possible by the fact that the postage covers only about one-half of the cost of transporting the matter mailed. The government pays the other half as an indirect subsidy, which seems essential at present to the maintenance and encouragement of commercial aviation. Withdrawal of government aid would mean the abandonment of some air lines and a general boosting of passenger, express and freight rates.

One cannot avoid wondering, however, whether the increasing government subsidy, indirect though it is, to the air mail service, will not result in a cutting down of the railroad subsidy. One is being established and the other is passing.

Federal Relief

Some of the advocates of government relief for the jobless affect a critical tone which might leave the uninformed and unwary under the mistaken impression that the government has done nothing.

This year the federal government is spending seven hundred and eighty-seven, five hundred and eighty-seven thousand dollars on public works and drought relief. Thousands of men and women have been given employment through this program. From the beginning of the unemployment crisis until the end of the present fiscal year next June the national government will have completed, started or projected a construction program to cost about one billion, five hundred and fifty million dollars.

Public men should not misrepresent what the government is doing or has done in a crisis. To do so breaks down the confidence of the people in their government at a time when the government must have the support of every citizen. We shouldn't expect too much of the government, which, after all, is ourselves, but we do. It's difficult to avoid that but we can tell the truth at least.

WALL STREET WORRIES NOW OVER ENGLAND

Fears Gold Standard Will Not Be Resumed and That Other Nations Will Follow After Great Britain

By CHARLES P. STEWART

New York, Sept. 26.—London's decision to go off the gold standard evidently disappointed Wall Street.
The impression, I gather, prevailed here that the establishment of Ramsay MacDonald's national coalition government had stabilized conditions in England for a few weeks at least, instead of which the recent collapse amounted to a near-panic, with even British government securities suffering severely.
A suspicion that John Bull may ultimately be driven permanently to abandon the gold standard manifestly furnishes the dark background for American financiers' anxiety.

Wall Street's explanation of what really is the matter in London is amusing to a listener who has no direct stake in the situation, though of course not at all funny to folk in the international banking business, or those who are dependent on it.

It differs materially from the Washington version.
If so happens that the group now in power in the national capital is chiefly preoccupied in an attempt to demonstrate that systematic federal relief of the unemployed inevitably is the ruin of any country which undertakes it. Consequently its argument is all to the effect that the crushing burden of the debt is the thing which has reduced the British government to its present straits. Washington officialdom may or may not actually believe the debt to be exclusively responsible for Britain's difficulties, but that is the only cause for them which it mentions.

Wall Street dismisses the debt
somewhat indifferently.

The Wall Street account is like this:
Germany began the post-war period with virtually no ready money whatever, and with enormous reparations to meet. To meet them, it began to borrow and as the only country with cash to loan was America, here was where the Germans did their borrowing. Almost everything that they have paid out since then has come from the United States.

France received the lion's share of the reparations—England a fraction and various smaller countries their minor fractions likewise, but France got the bulk of each succeeding payment.

The English, even if they had had the resources, showed no sign of enthusiasm for the making of loans to the fatherland wherewith to pay reparations, but they did sense an opportunity to advance considerable sums at handsome interest rates, for the re-establishment of German enterprises. These funds they borrowed liberally from France and loaned them to Germany for a few per cent more than they paid for them. The French, to be sure, might have secured this margin for themselves by dealing at first hand with the Teutons, but

Poetry For Today

TELL IT TO GOD

When things go wrong
As things will do;
When skies are gray
That should be blue;
When friends prove false
Who should be true—
Tell it to God.

When sorrow comes
As sorrow will;
When fortune seems
To bring but ill;
When weary hearts
With anguish fill—
Tell it to God.

When hurt by careless Hand or thought;
When with the woes
Of life distraught;
When every hope
With fear is fraught—
Tell it to God.

FRANK GRUBBS

perhaps they cannily preferred the English guaranty.

THUS:

America was loaning to Germany, Germany was paying to France what it borrowed from America, England was borrowing from France and loaning its borrowings originally American money to the Germans.

The system worked satisfactorily until the world depression set in—a depression which the English, already over-extended by war-time and postwar financing, felt with especial severity. The French, presumably alert to note so large a debtor's obvious embarrassments, began recalling their English loans
as rapidly as possible. The English, in turn, were forced to press Germany. Germany, still struggling to make a fresh start and loaded with reparations, was in no shape to pay anyone or anything.

Naturally the Germans' distress alarmed the American bankers who had been making loans to Germany.

From the standpoint of the American bankers, a particularly painful feature of the situation lay in the fact that they never have been able to unload anything like all of their German securities upon the American public, but still hold them, so that they themselves the bankers and not the general public, will be the losers if the Germans cannot meet their obligations.
Whether or not the American bankers were the folk who sought the moratorium, to give Germany a breathing spell, there can be no question that they were mighty thankful when President Hoover announced it.

The Germans were equally thankful.

Indeed, the suggestion is to be heard in Wall Street that maybe there was an element of premeditation on Germany's part in the fashion in which the fatherland permitted itself to become so deeply involved in America's and England's debt as virtually to compel the two of them to come to its rescue in order to protect their own investments.

The Germans' troubles are so dire that they are in a position to say they don't care what happens —if given time they will pay their creditors; if not they can go bankrupt and pay nothing, and perhaps that will be easiest way for them —typical attitude of downright despiration.

Uncle Sam is rich enough to wait.
if he has to.

John Bull, however, is between the upper and the nether mill-stones. He cannot afford to wait and he by no means is willing to go bankrupt.

There is one loophole, possibly,
out of his difficulties for John Bull —permanent abandonment of the gold standard. (The present moratorium on the gold standard is for only six months.)

To escape through this hole would be, in reality, a sort of bankruptcy for him, but it would not be a plain admission of it.

There is a probability that other countries may follow England's example.

Gold thereupon would lose its money value and be worth only what it might bring as a commodity—for filling teeth and similar purposes.

One can see that the United States and France, with their enormous gold hoards, must regard that prospect with horror.

ROBBERS WIRE VICTIMS TO RAILROAD TRACKS—ESCAPE WITH CRUSHED FINGERS

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 26.—(P)—
George Williams, 29, Portsmouth, O., and Amos, W. Va., was recovering in a hospital today of shock and the loss of two fingers on the right hand resulting from a hold-up yesterday by two negroes who bound him to the Norfolk & Western railroad track with hay wire.

Williams was robbed of $40 by the negroes, one of whom placed a knife at his throat. His hands and feet were wired to the track.
Williams freed one hand and his feet, but a freight train ran over the two fingers on the right hand as he was attempting to unfasten the wire.

High Spots In Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

An account of the only occasion on which Mr. Lincoln was a victim of sea-sickness is carried in a letter written by Salmon P. Chase to his daughter Janet. Early in April, 1862, the President, Secretary Stanton and Mr. Chase arranged a trip from Washington down to Fortress Monroe. It was one of those "hurry-up" enterprises, in which Secretary Chase liked to engage. The war wasn't moving half fast enough from him on the northern side.

They went on the little revenue steamer Miami and 13 miles below Alexandria it ran into a drizzling rain which developed fog as night came on, and the Miami was forced to anchor in the river. Toward morning, however, the rain ceased, a brisk wind rose, and daylight found the little vessel bobbing on the waves of the Chesapeake Bay.
Breakfast was served in the cabin to all who sat down to it, none of them feeling very well, however, and presently, with the tossing of the vessel, the dishes began to slide around and Mr. Lincoln lost his appetite, excusing himself, he stretched his long body on a locker and was silent.

Secretary Stanton was the next to succumb, and took his place on another locker near the President and was heard of no more until Fortress Monroe was reached.
Chase was the only one to keep his feet and he found it advisable to cut breakfast short and go up on deck with General Viele, who had joined the party, where a chat in the fresh air restored composure.

President Lincoln was himself again as soon as the Miami got inside the lee at Fortress Monroe, and joined the others mounted in making a survey of the defenses there, and the location of the troop he was not much of a sailor, cared little for the waves, and preferred other modes of transportation when available.

MAN'S DISAPPEARANCE SOLVED BY DROUGHT

SKELTON FOUND IN SWAMP
AFTER IT DRIES UP

Alexandria, Minn., —(P)—This summer's long drought has made funeral services possible for Otto Dahl, thirty-one years after his death. They will be held tomorrow.

Dahl, disappeared from his home on April 23, 1900, in a swamp, where he had gone presumably to search for cattle. No trace of him was found until a few days ago when his skeleton, identified through dental work, was found by a boy wandering over an area of the swamp which had been dried up by the summer's heat.

ACTOR'S CONDITION IS STILL CRITICAL

Los Angeles, —(P)—Dr. Karl Lewis, attending Jack Pickford, film actor and brother of Mary Pickford, said today the condition of his patient was critical, but that there was hope for the recovery of the actor.

Pickford, ill from complications, following a severe cold, suffered a relapse three days ago and since that time has been in a semi-conscious condition.

Mrs. Mary D. Martin

Mrs. Mary D. Martin of Clarke-dale, Miss., enjoys the distinction of being the only woman justice of the peace in Mississippi. She has held her office for four years, and was re-elected in the August primary. Mrs. Martin has married many couples and boasts that

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

NEW YORK — The Heckler trained flea troupe at the Flea Circus on Forty-second street is in demand this year for elite entertainment in Park avenue apartments and swanky summer homes.

Roy Heckler (son of Professor W. Heckler, Swiss by birth, who began training fleas in Florida) usually conducts the troupe to the scene of festivities.

Not a flea has escaped on one of these visits. Collars and chains keep them under control when they are out of their cages.

The cost of bringing the trained troupe into your home is not as excessive as that of a group of dancers and a crooner. The fleas don't have to be dined and they don't jump for every open bottle.

Speaking of dining: It costs the Hecklers nothing at all to feed their performers. When they get hungry, a Heckler bares a wrist and lets the little fellow hop to it, or some one else around the flea circus volunteers to be bitten.

One Minute Pulpit

And the people cried unto Moses;
and when Moses prayed unto the Lord, the fire was quenched.—
Numbers, xi, 2.

They're all "human fleas," imported from the south of Europe.

These, says Roy Heckler, are more intelligent and active than dog fleas, as they don't dwell upon their diet. They lurk in crevices in their native haunts, spring out and bite an unwary human, and hurry back home. They live longer than the dog fleas, too.

Ordinarily the performing fleas are fed twice daily. When show business is thriving, however, they must get in three good bites
a day.

THE MORNING AFTER

"Rubber Joe" Feeney is the ice man's friend.

He also is the friend of a number of the Tenderloin tribe, who visit his upstairs Sixth avenue rooms to be revived by Joe's ice rubs.

Joe, who was born in Calgary, used to be a masseur and athletic trainer. About a year ago he told some of his boy friends about his ice rubs for a dollar, and now he has all the "patients" he and a part-time assistant can take care of, with two ice boxes and eight cots.

No appointment is necessary;
the boys just drop in. Joe's business hours are from midnight until the last patient has left his care in the morning.

Actors, bookmakers, bootleggers and gentlemen of mysterious leisure are among the clientele.
"Rubber Joe" boasts, however, that he has several customers with steady daytime jobs who count on him to get 'em to work on time in the morning, and that he never fails 'em.

The rubs are repeated until relief is given. However, if one sleeps longer than an hour on one of Joe's cots, he owes another dollar for lodgings.

"THAT LITTLE GAME"

Left Out

SOCCER IN PAGE

IN the season's schedule of society events no lovelier party has been noted than the luncheon-bridge entertained Friday by Mrs. S. E. Boggs, Mrs. Porter Campbell and Mrs. R. M. Hughes.

Mrs. Boggs' charming home, its large rooms admirably thrown together for entertaining, provided a most attractive setting for thirty women, smartly gowned in the new fall modes.

Gorgeous autumn flowers in brilliant hues, filling numerous baskets and bowls, were effectively placed at every point of vantage. The cynosure of all eyes was an immense basket of luxuriant dahlias, from the Buck gardens and friends in number had sent the choicest bloom from their own gardens. Floor lamps and table lamps softly lighted the rooms.

The hostesses in becoming afternoon gowns gracefully extended the hospitalities, their cordiality stimulating the pleasure of the afternoon.

The luncheon pour was delightfully easy and followed by an afternoon passing all too swiftly in progressive contract bridge. The handsome prizes in the game were won by Mrs. Harry M. Rankin, Mrs. Rell G. Allen and Mrs. William L. Stinson.

Assisting the hostesses in the delightful courtesies of the afternoon were Mrs. H. Renick Boggs, of Columbus, and Mrs. Colin C. Campbell.

Mrs. Frank L. Stutson, Mrs. Boggs, of Columbus, and Mrs. Byron Dawley, of Long Beach, California, visiting guests.

The additional guests were Mrs. Werter Shoop, Mrs. Joseph H. Harper, Mrs. W. Stanley Paxson, Mrs. Hoy O. Simons, Mrs. R. Owen Harrison, Mrs. Harry M. Rankin, Mrs. William L. Stinson, Mrs. Clayton V. Lanum, Miss Dell Lanum, Mrs. Eliza Waddell, Mrs. Margaret Colwell, Mrs. R. H. Julian, Mrs. George S. Renick, Mrs. Fred B. Creamer, Mrs. J. Madison Willis, Mrs. Roy Hagler, Mrs. Ben F. Davis, Mrs. Rell G. Allen, Mrs. D. H. C. Bowen, Mrs. David H. Baruch, Mrs. George Fabb, Mrs. Jesse Personer, Mrs. C. Howard Griffith, Mrs. Earl Parker, Mrs. Colin C. Campbell, Miss Florence Ustick.

The attendance contest supper of the First Presbyterian Sunday School, in which the losers entertained the winners Friday night, was one of the jolliest and most delightful affairs of the many which the Sunday School has sponsored in the church dining room. There was a most appetizing baked bean supper and a clever program and a lot of nonsense which added spice to the supper.

Although the storm interfered with the attendance there were present a hundred and twenty-five winners, who had been in attendance eight out of every ten Sundays.

Twenty-five of the losers entertaining acted as the evening's hostesses. Miss Clara Zimmerman did exceptionally beautiful work in decorating, using a profusion of vividly tinted fall flowers. Each long table was centered with a brilliant water garden, upon yellow runners the length of the tables.

Mrs. Frank S. Jackson, Sunday School Superintendent, had arranged a hilariously entertaining program, assisted by Mr. Walter D. Patton, assistant Superintendent. Mr. Patton took charge of a "round table", introduced by chorus singing. Mrs. S. A. Dewey gave glowing praise to the winners in a short toast and Dr. Stewart B. Smith was delightfully humorous in his toast to the losers. There was an entertaining musical concert, with Mrs. Orland Hays at the piano. Miss Ruth Turner played for the singing.

The triumph of the evening was an extremely clever take off on the "Real Folks" of "Tompkins' Corners". These well known radio characters were splendidly acted by Ethel Jackson, Leontine Staudus, Velma Hutchison, Rudolph Wolfe, Dr. Woodard, Alva Rodgers, Richard Rankin, Bruce Devins, Dwight Beatty. The three boys brought down the house, Richard Rankin a Bill Perkins playing a gazoo solo, and young Devins and Beatty putting over Elmer Sued and his dog Prince. The band, with its funny, noisy instruments made a big hit, and the "hick" costumes were highly ridiculous.

Mrs. Arthur Finley was general chairman, Miss Alva Rodgers and Mrs. Grace Goodwin, assisting. Mrs. C. C. Strevey had charge of the dining room. This was the first time that the dining room has been thrown open since it was redecorated by the Woman's Guild. The walls are of canary yellow and with the new curtains and accessories it is most attractive.

Mrs. Mattie Beeman, who is keeping house at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Talmadge Wilson, during Mrs. Wilson's absence at the hospital, entertained the Conner Farm Women's Club, Friday afternoon, in her sister-in-law's place. The hospitalities were delightfully extended and there was a good attendance of members.

Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, president, conducted the business session and presented for the program a splendid paper, "Conquest of the Antarctic Air", by Mrs. Lois Burris, and an equally interesting one, "Dora in the White House," by Mrs. Orla Mark.

The meeting was followed by a most enjoyable social hour and the serving of delicious refreshments, carried out in a pretty yellow and white color scheme. Mrs. Mary Conner and Mrs. Grace Rhonemus assisted in the serving.

A beautiful assortment of different colors and varieties of zinnias were used in decoration and called forth much admiration.

Mrs. Byron A. Tracey entertained her bridge club very delightfully, Friday afternoon, and included as guests Mrs. Arden Specht, Mrs. Edwin Allemand, Mrs. Edward Cullen and Mrs. Asa Flowers, and besides invited Mrs. Loren Bennett and Mrs. Everett Allemand to substitute for absent club members, making three tables of players.

The game progressed with interest and enthusiasm throughout the afternoon and at its close an attractive favor for high score was awarded to Mrs. Floyd Mitchell.

Mrs. Tracey combined a lovely array of garden flowers in the decorations throughout her home. She was assisted by Mrs. Floyd Mitchell and Mrs. Eugene McLean in serving a tempting collation.

Mrs. J. Arthur McCoy and Mrs. W. O. Beatty of East Street are planning a special program which will be presented at the meeting of the Sunnyside Parent-Teacher Association to be held at the school building on Tuesday evening, September 29 at 7:30.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all patrons of the Sunnyside school to be present at this meeting which will afford an opportunity to meet the new principal, Mr. A. A. White, formerly of Circleville. A royal welcome will be given to all new-comers.

For the pleasure of Mrs. Lloyd Myberg, of San Bernardino, California, who is visiting her sister Mrs. Robert A. Craig, Mrs. Harold Craig entertained Friday evening with a bridge. Four tables of guests were at play throughout the evening, the high score favor won by Mrs. Clarence L. Ford.

Making up the four tables with Mrs. Myberg were Mrs. James M. Harsha, Mrs. Howard S. Harper, Mrs. Colin C. Campbell, Mrs. J. Earl Gidding, Mrs. J. Paul Strevey, Mrs. Albert Briggs, Mrs. William C. Allen, Mrs. Walter Hutton, Mrs.

Richard Willis, Mrs. Willard H. Perrill, Mrs. Harford H. Hankins, Mrs. Elizabeth Wolf, Mrs. Earl Parker, Mrs. Clarence L. Ford and Mrs. A. B. McDonald.

Mrs. Robert Craig assisted the hostess in the gay pleasures of the evening and in the serving of a tempting collation. The small tables and living rooms were prettily decorated with bouquets of garden flowers.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met in the Federated Club rooms, Friday, for the September meeting, which marked the closing of the year's work. Mrs. J. A. Van Gundy, the president, conducted the devotionals, followed by a number of sentence prayers.

Annual reports were given by the secretary and treasurer. Mrs. C. D. Overstake gave a report upon flower mission work and Mrs. Van Gundy, Temperance and Missions.

It was decided to remain in the Federation of clubs for another year.

Reception of new members and the installation of officers followed and was a much enjoyed service.

Mrs. J. T. Tuttle read an article "Why Just The One?" Mrs. Orland Toops, "An Editorial on Prohibition."

Mrs. Ella Taylor, chairman of hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. F. Todhunter, Mrs. A. H. Taylor, Mrs. Orland Toops, Mrs. J. F. Tuttle, Mrs. Forest Tipton, Mrs. Ella Thompson, Mrs. Earl Thompson and Miss Edna Thompson, served delicious refreshments during a pleasurable social hour. Beautiful vari-colored garden flowers were prettily arranged throughout the room.

Members of the Duncan McArthur Chapter Daughters of 1812 motoring to Greenfield Saturday to attend the luncheon and meeting entertained at the home of Mrs. Ernest Daniels were Miss Jean Howat, Regent, Mrs. S. A. Dewey, Mrs. Roy E. Brown, Mrs. M. S. Daugherty, Mrs. J. Earl McLean.

Friends will be interested to learn of the marriage of Miss Sada Dearth and Mr. Noah Wilson, at Newport, Ky., Saturday, Sept. 19, 1931. They were accompanied by Mr. M. E. Roush, of Springfield. They spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nevill and family, of Mt. Washington.

At present they are residing in Dayton. Future plans have not been announced.

Although the storm interfered with the attendance somewhat, the Mizpah Class social at Grace church, Friday evening, was a most enjoyable affair. The committee of hostesses arranged a most entertaining evening of readings and games and served dainty refreshments at its close.

All business was dispensed and the entire evening devoted to sociability.

Mrs. C. D. Overstake acted as chairman and Mrs. John Merlweather as assistant. The hostesses were all members from M. to R.

Mrs. Ray E. Griffith entertained an informal little party, Friday evening, and for entertainment provided a game of progressive anagrams. Favors in the game were won by Mrs. Howard K. Parrett and Mrs. Fred M. Mark.

Mrs. Griffith's home was bright with clusters of hollyhocks. She extended delightful hospitalities and at the close of the evening served very tempting refreshments.

Included were Mrs. Fred M. Mark, Mrs. Florence S. Inskip, Mrs. Howard K. Parrett, Mrs. Martin A. Hughes, Mrs. Hernan E. Price, Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. William Hastings, Mrs. Frank Blessing, Mrs. Lydia Williams and Mrs. Herbert Chapman.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. Alexander H. Ballard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ballard, and Miss Ruth Adler, both of Chicago, last Saturday, carries interest to a large family connection and friends of the bridegroom in this city, his former home. Mr. Ballard has been engaged in business in Chicago for some time and their home will continue to be made in that city.

Mrs. J. Earl Gidding and son, Gordon, Mrs. Robert A. Craig and sister, Mrs. Lloyd Myberg, of San Bernardino, Cal., were Saturday motorists in Columbus.

Miss Edith Brown, of Xenia, is spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, in Bloomington.

Miss Grace Tanquary, of Atlantic City, N. J., and Miss Ora Tanquary, of Van Wert, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Tanquary and Mrs. David H. Rowe, Friday.

Mr. Rolla Johnson returned Saturday morning from a business trip to Chicago.

Mrs. Chalmers S. Kelley returned Friday evening from Detroit, where she spent the past week attending the National American Legion and Auxiliary convention. Mrs. Kelley was re-appointed State Poppy chairman for the third year and while in Detroit she served on the National Convention Poppy committee.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Farquhar and daughter, Barbara Lou, are motoring to New Concord to spend Sunday with Miss Jeanne Farquhar, a student at Muskingum College.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Anders and daughter, Miss Ada Kathryn, Miss Virginia Crawford and Miss Donald Simpson motored to Xenia, Friday evening, for the Xenia-Washington football game.

Misses Ramona Short, Anne Lisclandro, Ruth Schadel, Mary Louise Mark, Marian Osborn and Janet Daugherty; Messrs. Harry Ferguson, Charles Schwartz, Clark Pinsky, Johnnie Hyer, Selsor Fenner and W. L. Burke, Jr., were among local people motoring to Williamsport, Friday evening, to hear Jess Goldkett's Scarlet Mask Band.

Mrs. Frank Christopher and daughter, Miss Margaret, were visitors in Columbus Saturday.

Mrs. Ella J. Kouns and Mrs. Carson Maddux represented the local Church of Christ at the district convention in Lancaster, Thursday.

Friends are gratified to know that Mrs. Talmadge Wilson is making satisfactory recovery at Kelley Hale Hospital in Wilmington, following an operation.

Mrs. Robert Lanum (nee Emily Ashling) has accepted a position in the millinery department of The Frank L. Stutson Co. Mrs. Lanum was connected with the Stutson store before her marriage and was a favorite in both business and social relations.

Mrs. D. H. C. Bowen left Saturday for Tecumseh, Mich., to join her sister and go on to St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, for a visit with two other sisters, Mrs. Robert Dunsmore and Miss Isabelle Paisley. Miss Paisley has just returned from an extended trip abroad.

Mrs. Jesse Feagans returned Friday evening from a week's stay with her niece, Mrs. Lawrence Staats (nee Grace Murray) who is in Mercy Hospital, Mt. Vernon, with a fractured hip, the result of an automobile accident three weeks ago.

Mrs. H. Renick Boggs returned to Columbus Saturday, her mother, Mrs. Frank L. Stutson remaining the guest of Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Boggs for the coming week.

Dean Fite came from the University of Cincinnati Saturday to spend the next four weeks in his cooperative work at the Washington Ice Co. Louis Baer, who has just completed his four weeks work at the ice plant, returns Sunday to the University of Cincinnati.

Mr. S. L. Evans was a business visitor in Columbus Thursday. Miss Ruth Carr motoring up with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Adams returned from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they spent the past week at the William Penn Hotel, while Mr. Adams was attending the meeting of a hundred and fifty honor men of the Equitable Insurance Company and a meeting of the National Insurance Association. Mrs. Adams' mother, Mrs. T. D. Kyle, of Xenia, stayed with the children at the Adams home during their absence.

Miss Cornelia McClimans, music director at King's Mills, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Minnie McClimans, over the week-end. Miss Harriett Hix, of Urbana, and Miss Mary Lileta Fauber, of Marshall, college friends of Miss McClimans, are also the guests at the McClimans' home.

Mr. C. F. Bonham, who has been confined to the Rest Home for more than two years, suffered a relapse, Friday night, and his condition Saturday was very serious.

Friends will be gratified to learn that Miss Mae Jester is steadily improving from a lengthy illness at her home in New Holland and expects to resume her teaching in the Commercial department of Washington High School.

Mr. J. W. Bloomer, of Chicago, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Cox, and Mr. Cox for a couple of weeks.

MARGARET WICKLINE TO REPRESENT W.H.S. AT GATEWAY JUBILEE

CHOSEN BY POPULAR VOTE OF SENIOR CLASS, SHE GETS TRIP TO COLUMBUS

A vote by the Senior Class of Washington High School decided that Margaret Wickline had the most personality of any girl in the class and to her goes the honor of representing her high school at the Gateway Jubilee Celebration to be held in Columbus September 28, 29, and 30.

Miss Wickline will be one of the 15 most popular girls in Central Ohio towns served by the Buckeye Stages Inc., and will occupy an important position on the Company's float entered in the sunset parade during the jubilee. A contest will be held just before the parade for the purpose of selecting one of these girls to be known as Miss Education. These girls also will be given a chance to participate in a contest conducted by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce for the selection of a Queen of the Gateway Jubilee.

The Gateway Jubilee is the third annual affair of its kind and it is estimated that more than 150,000 people will line the streets to witness the pageant on Wednesday evening—the crowning event of the jubilee.

SCUFIS-SCOPIS WEDDING

Eclipses from the double ring wedding of Mr. James Scufis, of this city, and Miss Helen Scopsis, of Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada, will interest friends and acquaintances of the bride-groom. The ceremony was performed on Sunday night, September 21, at the home of the bride's sister in Wallaceburg.

Recounting the wedding, a Canadian newspaper says in part: "The impressive event was solemnized in strict accordance with the wedding customs of the native land of the contracting parties—Greece. The officiating minister was Rev. A. G. Papastamatiou, of Toronto.

"Given in marriage by Chris Campbell and John Janetos, the bride presented a striking picture in her handsome gown of white satin, lace trimmed, with white satin slippers and hose, and a tulle embroidered veil caught in cap shape with a band of pearls."

Mr. James Brooks, of Wilmington, Ohio, was best man at the ceremony. "The bride-groom's gift to the bride was a diamond dinner ring while the best man's gift to her was a wrist watch, set in diamonds. The young bride was the recipient of many other beautiful gifts.

The happy couple left later in the evening on a motor trip to Windsor, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Toronto and London, the bride wearing a suit of brown chamois cloth with fur trimmings, and hat and shoes to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Scufis will reside at Washington C. H."

DR. FISHER WILL ADDRESS MEDICS

Dr. James F. Wilson, president of the Fayette County Medical Society has announced that Dr. John A. Fisher, urologist of De Courcy Clinic, Cincinnati, will address the members of the society at Washington Court House, Thursday, October 1. Dr. Fisher will discuss "Homaturia." Members of the Fayette society and doctors from towns in the surrounding area will attend the session.

LIVING AND LOVING

BY VIRGINIA LEE

WHAT AMOUNT of liberty husband and wife may allow themselves and their mates is a nice question.

The husband usually comes in to contact with numbers of attractive women every day in business. The wife, on the other hand, seldom meets men of her type, her business being mostly with the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker. And when a group of married people congregate, the men usually get together and swap stories and business yarns, while the women gossip and exchange recipes.

Should the wife occasionally go to lunch or dinner with one of her old boy friends or a "friend of the family" without her lord and master? And should said L. and M. take his stenographer to lunch or one of his old girl friends to dinner and the theater occasionally? Or should such carryings on be outlawed entirely when the marriage bells have pealed?

"DEAR MISS LEE: I fell in love with a girl that was several years my junior. I went with her three years and we finally married. She continued to correspond with another man after we were married and I caught her. She agreed never to be guilty of such a low trick again, although she said I was jealous and selfish.

"She has never wanted for anything in the way of clothes and money, and I paid all her bills for her. She was working and making a good salary herself. I did my best to get her to quit and told her I could support her the right way, but this she refused to do. She allowed her boss to ride her around in his car during my absence, and he called on her at my home during my absence. This I found out and got after her about it. She said I was selfish and jealous. We finally separated after being married nine months. After we separated she had to go to a sanatorium for treatment. This I willingly paid and have given her plenty of money since.

"What I want to know is what is a selfish man and what is a jealous person. I never did fuss at her about anything. Do you think it advisable to get a divorce from her or not? She is a good woman except this. She says she

DEAR DIARY

The story of A girl who went to New York for fame and fortune

MONDAY NIGHT
DEAR DIARY: "Now that you're here—" Nate said his voice only can be described as completely casual, and even then it seemed strange, his casualness, holding me against him as he steered the car with one hand.

"Now that you're here—" pausing, "why—" turning his face nearer, watching the road all the while, though. "Might as well stay, don't you think?"

I didn't say a word. My heart was doing a buck'n wing.

His arm slipped from around my shoulders and his hand rested on my arm, but as I raised my head he pressed it against his shoulder:

"Comfortable?" he asked.

I supposed, Diary, that the hero does not want a divorce.

"MACK."

Is your wife willing that you should take other girls out car riding and call on them in their homes occasionally? If she is, I suppose you couldn't object to her going out with other men, riding and entertaining them. She is not unfaithful. I take it, from your letter, but just wants to play around a bit. Women in business sometimes have to spend some time with men who are in the same line of office or interested in the same line, for business purposes. That is perfectly proper.

And I think girls do need to talk and have a good time with another man of their own set sometimes, and men with girls. A girl who has been popular prior to her marriage feels somewhat deprived if she is limited to her husband's society afterwards.

A selfish and jealous man, in my estimation, is one who makes a fuss every time his wife is seen to look with interest at another man or to talk to him. A happily married woman may have a delightful time talking to some other man, and come home more convinced than ever that her husband is vastly superior to his fellows and the only man in the world for her.

But as to divorcing your wife, will you be happy so doing? If she doesn't want a divorce, why not compromise and tell her she can play around a bit with her boy friends if she allows you the same privilege. That may cure her of wishing to do so, you know.

RAIL UNIONS TO ASK RELIEF
The only basis upon which unemployment can be solved. He said there had been no agreement upon what effects shorter hours should have upon the individual workers' wages.

The special committee of the 21 brotherhoods has been making a national survey of the unemployment problem, and will continue this work through October, from the data thus obtained, the committee then will set to work to form its recommendations for relief.
Mr. Robertson said the decision to submit the problem to congress was made because of a steadfast refusal of railroad executives to meet the brotherhood officials in a joint round table discussion of the situation, and because relief funds within the brotherhoods are diminishing rapidly.
"The most recent proposal for a joint conference was rejected by the railroads on the ground that the unemployment difficulties should be handled by each road individually.
Announcement of the intention to submit an unemployment relief plan directly to congress comes at a time when the railroads are seeking permission from Interstate Commerce Commission to raise freight rates 15 per cent in order to bolster the roads' revenues which have declined precipitously in recent years.

SHERIDAN FINED $100 AND COSTS
Charles Sheridan, recently found guilty of assault and battery upon A. Specht, in Court street some weeks ago, was Saturday afternoon fined $100 and the costs, amounting to a total of $149.81, after Judge Rankin had heard application of his attorney, Don C. Bartholomew, for a new trial.
Sheridan was originally charged with assault with intent to kill, but the indictment returned was for assault and battery.
He stood trial and was convicted by a jury.
The fine and costs were paid.

STONE QUARRIES ARE KEPT BUSY
Both the Armbrust quarry on the Greenfield road, at Sugar Creek and the Hyer quarry on the Theobald land, Leesburg road, have been very busy most of this summer, furnishing stone for the rebuilding work in their neighborhood.
The Armbrust quarry is very busy supplying stone for the widening of Route 70 south of this city, and the Hyer quarry has supplied large quantities of stone for the rebuilding of route 38.
Both quarries were taxed to capacity much of the time the rebuilding work has been under way.

YOUTHFUL PREACHER TAKES PULPIT HERE

SON OF MAN WHO CONSTRUCTED CHURCH ON GREGG ST. RETURNS
Rev. Paul D. Ferguson has returned to Washington to take up the work started by his father, Rev. W. O. Ferguson, in the Church of Christ in Christian Union years ago. His first service will be on Sunday. He comes here from three years in a pastorate in Lancaster.

Rev. Paul Ferguson is the youngest pastor in the city and probably the youngest who ever held a regular pastorate here. His slight build makes him appear hardly more than a boy.
The Rev. Mr. Ferguson comes by his calling naturally. He is a member of a family of preachers. His father built the present Church of Christ in Christian Union here in 1907 and preached in it until called to other fields. He left here about 16 years ago and is now living with his family in Circleville where he spreads the gospel. A younger son is now studying for the ministry in Cincinnati.

The Washington C. H. Church of Christ in Christian Union has been the publication center for the churches of the denomination for many years. The founders also lived here for a time.
Young Rev. Ferguson says he has many advanced ideas for training the young people of his church and plans to lay considerable stress on this part of his work.
Sunday services will be: church school at 9:15 a. m., morning worship at 10:30 a. m., and evening worship at 7:30 p. m. The mid-week prayer service is to be on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

SCIOTO-CO. SHERIFF GUILTY OF FRAUD

Portsmouth, O., Sept. 26.—(P)—Accepting without comment a verdict of guilty on charges of falsifying his expense accounts as sheriff of Scioto county, Maurice J. Caldwell today began serving a 30 day jail sentence meted out with a $200 fine and trial costs.
Caldwell, who resigned when investigation started, was denied a new trial.

Found guilty of falsifying records to the extent of $34.81, his conviction was on a misdemeanor. Had the amount exceeded $35 it would have been a felony and punishable by a penitentiary sentence.
Caldwell testified that Miss Roxie Miller, 23-year-old blonde who accompanied him on various occasions, was paid legally as a convict guard.

OHIO MINE STRIKE TRUCE DECLARED

gathering the strikers at Sunday Creek mine No. 5, at Murray City, for the election of a new checkweighman. A controversy over the election of a checkweighman, caused the strike which has thrown 1,000 men in the coal field out of work.
The plan provided that none but employees of the Sunday Creek Company at Murray City, No. 5 mine would be eligible to vote and that the two checkweighmen who were the center of the controversy could not be considered as candidates. The Sunday Creek Company, however, promised to provide them with employment.
The time and place for the election will be set by the two state officials, the Governor said.
The strike at Millfield mine No. 6 was called by the Union after the operators refused to employ the checkweighman the Union officials claimed was elected by the workers.

AUTOIST ARRESTED FOR MUD SPLASHING

Toledo, O., Sept. 26.—(P)—Chas. Williams, 28, Detroit, was arraigned on the charge of "mud splashing" before Judge Homer A. Ramey, in police court here today.
It is charged that he drove his automobile in street car tracks in such a manner that muddy water was splashed into the automobile of Mrs. L. C. Reichelder, who said the muddy water ruined two coats just purchased for her children, riding with her, and blinded her, forcing her to stop.
A motorcycle patrolman saw the incident and arrested Williams on charges of reckless driving and malicious destruction of property. The case was continued until next Friday.

IS ON CALIFORNIA BOARD OF EXAMINERS

Dr. A. E. Zimmerman, formerly of this city and graduate of the Ohio State University, has been named a member of the board of dental examiners for the State of California, Governor Ralph making the appointment.
As there are some 6,000 dentists in California, the appointment comes as a real honor to the former Washington C. H. man, who is also being urged to enter the contest for assemblyman from Doney, California.

ST. ANDREWS CHURCH BEING LANDSCAPED

OUTDOOR ALTAR, SURROUNDED BY FLOWERS AND SHRUBS TO BE FEATURE

The beautification plans recently adopted by St. Andrews Church were started to be carried out Saturday morning. Work off and on is expected to be done until everything will be complete by next spring.
The most elaborate part of the program is the outdoor altar, which is being built adjoining the east side of the church. The shrubbery will enclose the limestone foundation.
A profusion of lawn decorations will be planted within the next few weeks, giving the entire yard an inspiring appearance.
Plans for the beautification were made by Miss Nell Pat Kay.

GOLD RUSH BY THE WORLD IS PARADOX

France has a fifth; 15 nations control 90 per cent of the total supply. The United States also became the world's creditor and drew the gold in payment of these international obligations.
If the gold reserve now held here were fully utilized in the issuance of currency, many billions of dollars could be placed in circulation, granting there was a business demand for them. We have more gold than want and gold which England wants badly.

Some economists hold that the maintenance of a gold standard is a barbaric practice. They urge a paper money, based on commodities and managed by a central authority.
Since people want goods to use primarily and not money to look at this, of course, entails a reorganization of international finance—a difficult job.
Something of the sort may become necessary because many mining engineers believe the world's supply of gold soon will be inadequate for legal reserve requirements.

That is part of the quandary. Is gold necessary? England has plenty of wealth. Why does she have to worry about a yellow metal that, in and for itself, is virtually valueless?
Part of the answer is that whatever may be the intrinsic realities of the situation gold is the accepted standard, and in a world of international business there must be a standard.

MARKETS and FINANCIAL NEWS

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, Sept. 26.—(P)—A steadying of nerves, at the end of one of the most trying weeks of the year, was apparent in financial markets today.

Trading slackened in the stock market, and fluctuations were narrower, but a late flurry of selling gave the list a heavy tone at the finish. The market had a fair rally in the early trading, but there were numerous losses of a point or two at the close with a few wider drops.

The bond market was quieter, and some of the foreign issues improved. In foreign exchanges, sterling showed the best tone of the week, recovering about 10 cents, and at no time encountering severe pressure.

Commodities were marked by heavy profit taking in silver, after yesterday's advance. The tendency in banking circles to discredit rumors of other nations slipping from the gold basis may have prompted much of the realizing.

Several of the pivotal shares were well supported, and closed only a little lower. U. S. Steel rose about a point, and American Can 2 in the early dealings. U. S. Steel was off 1, and American Can a fraction, at the close.

Coca Cola was again a weak spot, dropping 5 points. Eastman lost as much. Union Pacific, Goodyear and Delaware and Hudson closed 3 to 4 lower.

American Telephone sold off two points, then rallied 1. Other issues closing a point or so lower included Allied Chemical, American Water Works, American Tobacco "B," Bethlehem Steel, Borden, General Motors, Drug, and International Harvester.

International Bankers said foreigners were doing at least as much buying in the market as selling now, and barring unforeseen developments, the situation in Europe should make this market attractive to free foreign funds. In one day this week, one banking house was said to have sold $500,000 worth of securities for foreign account, and bought $900,000.

The turnover in stock fell well below a million shares today, compared to 2,400,000 last Saturday.

Engineering News Record reports that activity declined slightly in heavy construction and engineering work throughout the country the past week, contracts award in the period dropping from $42,604,000 in the preceding week to $39,716,000, which compares with $44,246,000 in the corresponding week a year ago.

General Foods Corporation announced today it had given employment to 150 additional women workers as demonstrators in 26 sales districts throughout the country.

The United Air Lines Transport, subsidiary of the United Aircraft, reports that it carried 6,246 revenue passengers in August compared with 6,209 in July. The August volume of mail amounted to 409,985 pounds against 416,790 in the preceding month.

Construction of a total of approximately 135 miles of oil pipe line for the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana will begin at once, Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., engineers, announced today. The new line will constitute additional loops to the present system of the company's lines extending from Healdton, Okla., to Whiting, Ind.

NEWS BRIEFS FROM WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 26.—(P)—Shipment of service parts and accessories to wholesalers improved during August compared with the previous month, reports to the Motor and Equipment Association indicated today. Declines were shown, however, in shipments of original equipment to vehicle manufacturers and of shipments of service to wholesalers which were sufficient to bring the index of all shipments below the July figure.

Engineering News Record reports that activity declined slightly in heavy construction and engineering work throughout the country the past week, contracts award in the period dropping from $42,604,000 in the preceding week to $39,716,000, which compares with $44,246,000 in the corresponding week a year ago.

General Foods Corporation announced today it had given employment to 150 additional women workers as demonstrators in 26 sales districts throughout the country.

The United Air Lines Transport, subsidiary of the United Aircraft, reports that it carried 6,246 revenue passengers in August compared with 6,209 in July. The August volume of mail amounted to 409,985 pounds against 416,790 in the preceding month.

Construction of a total of approximately 135 miles of oil pipe line for the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana will begin at once, Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., engineers, announced today. The new line will constitute additional loops to the present system of the company's lines extending from Healdton, Okla., to Whiting, Ind.

HERE'S A BUSY MAN!

WORKS NIGHT AND DAY AT LEGITIMATE JOB AND RAISES BILLS AS SIDE-LINE
Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 26.—(P)—In these days of unemployment it is interesting to note that authorities say that George Rainey has been doing too much work.
He worked eight hours each night as a telegraph operator for a railroad, practiced law by day and in addition found time, investigators say, to do a little experimenting with $5 bills. They accuse him of splitting the bills apart and making two out of one by pasting on a bogus reverse side.
He was arrested and released on bond.

Lions Lose To Xenia In First Night Game In Sea Of Mud

TOUCHBACK

EFEATS W. H. S. BOYS

Deluge of Rain Makes Playing Field No Less Than Sea of Mud

PUTTING IS THE GAME

Scrimmage Plays Slither All Over the Field

The Blue Lions of Washington not only played their first nocturnal contest Friday night but also staged a game in a "Sea of Mud" with their hosts, Xenia Central.

The entire game was a matter of chance on the wet and sloppy gridiron. A high center late in the first period went over Samson's head and resulted in a touchback for safety. This gave the Xenia team a 2 to 0 lead and the final tanding was the same way also.

Punting was the chief pastime of the evening. The ball was too wet to properly handle for runs or passes and naturally the kicking game had to be restored to most of the time. Howard Thompson, veteran Xenia half, did the punting for eleven and Ralph Sampson, sturdy quarterback, fir the Blue and White. Thompson showed himself to be one of the best punters that has been faced by the Lions in recent years. Sampson seag a low kick that just got over the heads of the line but which also was effective.

Although statistics are lacking, it is estimated that the two teams were about even in scrimmage. The Xenia line operated much better than last week, opening holes for their ball toters and closing in on the opponents. Several nice gains were reeled off by both Samson and Leasure, the main ball carriers for the visitors. Samson, specially was good, playing a hand of football remarkably better than against Aquinas.

One of the highlights of the game was the ability of Everett Harris, colored tackle on the Blue and White outfit, in racing down punts. He usually beat the ads, made a few important tackles and once tackled and then recovered to give his team a chance on Xenia's 37-yard line. The drive afterward did not last long enough to do much damage, however, Thompson and Southard played for their first times at end.

The game was played on about every inch of ground on the field, going to and from the extremes. Early in the second quarter the Xenia eleven got the ball down to within a couple of yards of the goal. Although it was only third down then, a penalty for offside saved the situation for the Maurer-colored aggregation. Xenia was backed up in the third period to its one-foot line. There were just examples of the horrible situations which arose from time to time, but the touchback in the first was the only one that resulted in a score.

Although some persons were disappointed with the lightning system on the field, the majority agreed that it was satisfactory. The rain during the first half made identification poor and the mud-streaked players added none to the pleasantness.

A fairly large crowd, a good proportion of which was from Washington C. H., witnessed the night combat. Because of the condition of the field, persons were seen barefooted along the sidelines. Soaking shoes were too common to mention. The public address system was put into operation, thus giving the spectators a better insight as to what was going on.

Substitutions were frequent for Washington, but Coach Wilson for Xenia did not send in extras until the middle of the fourth quarter. The slippery ground made an injury almost impossible.

The deluge of rain that began falling early in the game and continued until the second half so soaked the notebooks of the reporters that they were soon discarded entirely. The lineups taken before the start of the game and rain were all mixed up in a soggy mess of paper long before the first half ended.

Leo Hanley, backfield star of the Northwestern eleven last year, has been signed as assistant coach at the University of South Carolina.

In a Nutshell

The belated rush of the New York Yankees, which has provided most of the thrills for the American League campaign since the Athletics clinched the pennant, has put the final decision as to whether the Yanks or Washington will finish in second place up to today's closing doubleheader between the teams.

Things began to look a bit doubtful for the Yankees a couple of days ago, when, after getting into second place with ten straight victories, they dropped back by losing to Cleveland, then they dropped the series' opener to the Senators to fall a game and a half behind. Yesterday Ruth led them back into the thick of the battle with an 8 to 3 triumph.

It was a battle of home runs. The Babe outdid them all by clouting his 45th and 46th homers of the year to regain the major league lead from Lou Gehrig. Joe Kuhel socked one to give the Senators a 2 to 0 lead. Herb Pennock, surprised everyone in the stadium, by dropping a homer into the bleachers, and Ruth brought the count up to 2 to 3 with his first of the game.

The Babe tied the count in the eighth with homer 46 and started a rally that drove Alvin Crowder from the box and brought in five runs to decide the battle.

If either the Yankees or Washington can win both games today, that team will clinch second place. Even break will put things up to Sunday's closing contest, with New York against Philadelphia and Washington against Boston.

Only one other game was played in the major leagues yesterday, and that revealed that Philadelphia's Athletics have another good pitcher who had not been counted on. Lew Krausse, an 18-year-old youngster who was graduated from the Media, Pa., high school in 1930, made his debut as a major league starting pitcher by holding the Boston Red Sox to four hits and winning 7 to 1.

The Chicago-St. Louis American league game was rained out, giving the teams two successful double-headers to wind up the season. No other major league clubs had games scheduled.

National League

Batting Race Is

Tight to Finish

New York, Sept. 26—(AP)—The battle for the 1930 batting championship of the National League seems destined to continue right up to the last minute of the last day of play and the final results may not be known until the official figures are released sometime next winter. At least the semi-official averages, which include Thursday's games, just three days before the finish, failed to reveal a letup in the struggle between Hafey St. Louis, and Bill Terry, New York.

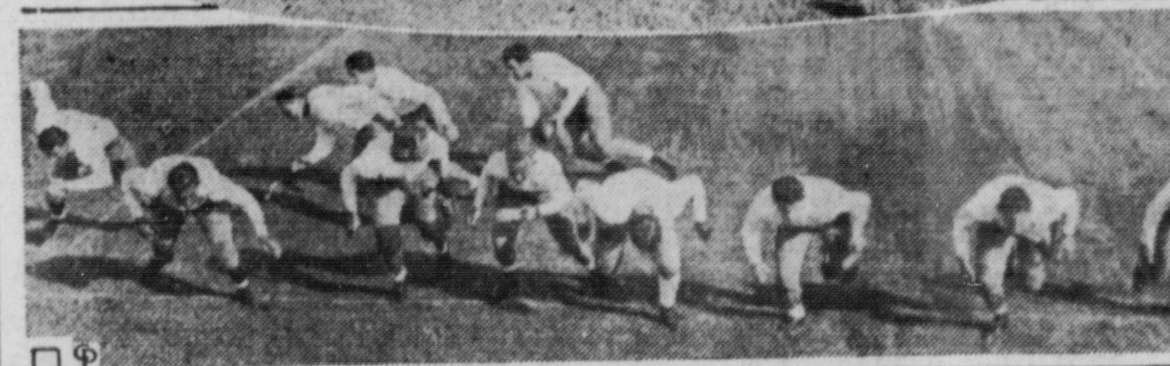

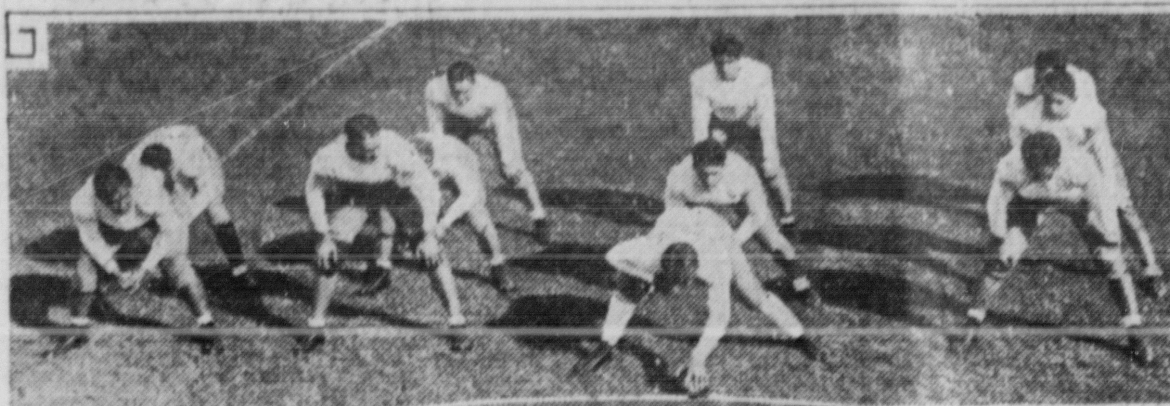

Hafey, coming up in a late rush, held first place Thursday with a .350 average and a margin of only a single point over Terry, while Jim Bottomley, St. Louis, Terry's erstwhile rival, had slipped back to third place at .341. Chuck Klein, Philadelphia, was fourth with .338.

Terry still held the major share of the slugging honors as he led the league in two departments, tied for first in another and was second in a fourth. The big New Yorker had a total of 212 hits, putting him one up on Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh, and had eluded 29 triples to 16 for Babe Herman, Brooklyn. Klein and Terry each had scored 120 runs and the Philadelphia was ahead of his New York rival with 120 runs batted in to 113. Klein completed his clouting list which rivaled Terry's with a league-leading total of 31 home runs. Mel Ott, New York, was second with 29.

FIGHT RESULTS

Minneapolis—Dick Daniels, Minneapolis, outpointed Con O'Kelly, Boston. (10); (newspaper decision). Milwaukee—Gray Leach, Gary Ind., outpointed Johnny Burns, Oakland, Cal. ### The Great Shires Out With Injury But Takes Title

Chicago, Sept. 26—(AP)—Injured and probably out of action for the rest of the season, Art Shires, Milwaukee's first baseman, had a three point margin over Tom Angley, of Indianapolis, in the American Association batting championship race, according to semi-official averages which include Thursday's games.

In 157 games, Art the Great had compiled a mark of .385, while Angley, a catcher, had .382 for 111 games. Pat Crawford, of Columbus, also was in the race with .379, and was the holder of three other leaderships. He had batted in 152 runs, had 28 home runs and led in total bases with 385. Shires headed the list in base hits with 240, and Spencer Harris, of Minneapolis, was the leading scorer with 155 runs. Len Knebeck, of Indianapolis, had 19 triples for a leadership, and Eddie Pick, of Kansas City, set the pace in doubles with 56. Bernie Neis, of Minneapolis, regained the base stealing leadership with a total of 24, one more than Bevo Lebourveau, of Columbus, and Harold Anderson, of St. Paul.

Hafey, coming up in a late rush, held first place Thursday with a .350 average and a margin of only a single point over Terry, while Jim Bottomley, St. Louis, Terry's erstwhile rival, had slipped back to third place at .341. Chuck Klein, Philadelphia, was fourth with .338.

American League Honors Are Taken By Mack's Players

Chicago, Sept. 26—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove and Al Simmons apparently have added a pair of jewels to the Philadelphia Athletics championship crown, in the shape of individual pitching and batting titles of the American league.

According to semi-official averages which include Thursday's games of this nearly finished season, Grove, with a record of 31 victories and three defeats for an average of .921, was the league's champion hurler, while Milwaukee Al's mark of .389 just about assured him the batting title.

Grove could lose another decision and still surpass the high .872 set in 1912 by Smokey Joe Wood, of Boston, and Simmons' margin of seventeen points over Babe Ruth appeared almost impregnable. Most of the remaining batting honors belong to Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, although he dropped the base hit leadership to Earl Averill, of Cleveland, during the week. Gehrig had batted in 180 runs—ten less than the major league mark set by Hack Wilson last season; trailed Babe Ruth in home runs, 45 to 46; had scored 159 runs and had a total base collection of 398.

From the FOOTBALL Fronts

Durham, N. C.—Coach Wallace Wade of Duke University is thinking about trying out a numbering system to keep the men identified on his football squad.

"Yes, Mr. Wade," from five hopeful throats.

On the squad are James Mullen, James Harton, James Raper, James Rupert and Norman James.

"Jim," or "Jimmy" would not solve the problem, for all but Norman James will answer to either of these names.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Col. Paul B. Parker, University of Tennessee athletic director, says present day college football has done more to aid poor boys in quest of a college education than any other thing.

"Poor boys who otherwise would be denied higher education have obtained scholarships and been aided through college," he said.

"I am further convinced," he continued, "that football has done more to bring colleges into contact with the public, improved the student body, encouraged boys to go to college and created a better spirit among students."

Colonel Parker said the Carnegie Foundation report emphasized the evils of the game and overlooked the benefits.

Mitchell, S. D.—If Dakota Wesleyan college's athletic teams put all their trips into one this year, they could travel around the world. The school's football, basketball, and track teams will travel more than 25,000 miles on the longest mileage schedule ever made by a South Dakota conference school.

Two games in West Virginia— with Davis and Elkins and New River State—are slated for the football team.

Under present plans the Tiger basketball team will play on both coasts this winter, and in track Wesleyan teams are to be entered in the Penn. Texas and Drake relays.

S. C. O. TEAMS VICTORIOUS IN FRIDAY TILTS

Two former members of the old S. C. O. League showed their strength against football teams from Cincinnati Friday afternoon. Hillsboro played Norwood and did so in an elaborate manner, getting a 6 to 0 decision. Wilmington played host to Roger Bacon H. Cincinnati, at the same time and the final score was 18 to 18.

Greenfield McClain took Grove City, 21 to 0, in a real walkaway. Frankfort demonstrated little ability against the heavy Waverly eleven, losing 33 to 0.

Washington Hi played the only night game of the group, bowing to Xenia by a count of 2 to 0.

Soft Ball Loop

Still Knotted

The past week did very little in clearing up the softball standing. The Pearce Clean Ups outfit is now in the lead but four games remain to be played and this will probably be stretched into a tie.

Remaining games yet to be staged include: Reeder Printers vs. Wilson Hardware; Gross Clothiers vs. Hagerty Shoe Co.; Dahl-Campbell vs. Hagerty Shoe Co.; Washington Lumber Co. vs. Cloverleaf Dairy.

The softball standing will not be affected if the Lumber-Cloverleaf game is not played, but it will be necessary to play the other three postponed contests in order to get the winner of the second round. Dahl-Campbell and Hagerty Shoes will play at 2 p. m. Sunday at Wilson's Recreation Field. Other games will follow next week.

The game on Sunday will be played if the field is dry enough.

Is Best in A. A.

Chicago, Sept. 26—(AP)—Milwaukee's Brewers failed to land the pennant but they brought more cheer to the American Association box offices than any other club in the circuit during the 1931 campaign.

President Thomas Jefferson Hickey today said that while the season's receipts were not as heavy as a year ago that Milwaukee drew the largest crowds in the circuit.

Hickey said he considers St. Paul as one of the strongest teams ever to represent his league in the "Little World Series," and that he expects the Saints to defeat the Rochester Red Wings, winner of the international league title, and bring the Class AA title back to the midwest.

Kansas City yesterday whipped Minneapolis, 11 to 4, and gained another half game over Indianapolis in what remains of the second place battle, while Toledo gave Louisville its seventh straight beating, 8 to 3.

The season will close Sunday.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 26—(AP)—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, today had a chance to win the women's national golf championship for the sixth time in ten years.

Opposed to the titleholder in the 36-hole final was Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, N. Y., who yesterday shattered women's par to defeat Miss Euid Wilson, British champion.

Mrs. Vare advanced to the final round at the expense of Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, whose defeat was her third by Mrs. Vare in the last four championships. They were finalists in 1928 and last year.

BO M'MILLIN

IS 35 AND GRAY NOW

But as Kansas State Coach He Still Has All of Old Vim and Vigor

AND STILL FOXY, TOO

Golf and Bridge Give Him Off-sides Recreation

Manhattan, Kansas.—(AP)—"My side and body, Billy, get your head cut in! Even a biting tomcat could have caught that pass. Let's play football!"

Such picturesque language issues from Alvin Nugent McMillen, a stocky Scot whose voice rises till the end far down the field can hear him without cupping an ear.

All-American quarterback and one of the toughest in the early post-war days when college teams were made up largely of ex-service men, "Bo" McMillin is 35 and gray now, a family and a boy, Jerry Robert, born in September.

But as head coach at Kansas State college, the man who led the "praying Colonels" of Centre college to victory over Harvard a decade ago steps around the practice field like a youth of 20.

Fiery-tempered, high strung, full of action, Bo McMillen once was described by a New York sports writer as "one of the most annoyingly cocky players in the game," and he often told opponents he would make more touchdowns "than all of you put together."

"Tough Bo" has mellowed in the coaching profession. He predicts quietly before a game that "You'll see a football game and a football team regardless of whether we win or lose. That's all."

He is still Foxy Bo, however. Warming up for a Big Six game once his team was watched by the gridders who would be the Aggies' opponents next day.

"If they want to see something we'll show it to them," said Bo, grimly.

He devised two weird forward pass plays that called for handling the ball four times behind the line with ends rapidly dashing out of throwing range.

His team drilled at them steadily until the puzzled and unwanted spectators drifted on, pondering what manner of football this McMillen had brought among them.

In the winter Bo plays handball furiously; in summer he plays golf well enough to hold a Manhattan Country club championship. He enjoys bridge, makes good in a big way or goes down with a crash, and in chess finds strategy almost as satisfying as football.

Bo's teams aren't sartorial perfection. "A hole or two in a jersey doesn't matter if the score is right," says Bo.

ALAN GOULD

The first question of paramount interest which the coming football season will answer is: What will Notre Dame do without Knute Rockne?

A fair reply may be had on October 3 when the Irish face Indiana; but a definite retort will most certainly be had the following Saturday when Notre Dame meets Northwestern at Soldiers Field.

Both the Hoosiers and Wildcats are natural rivals of the Irish. Notre Dame's first contest of note in gridiron history was with Northwestern back in the nineties.

Neither Indiana nor Northwestern ever beat Rockne.

Now that he has gone these two rivals will be the first to test the armor Rockne left behind him and not even Army or Southern California will have more heart for the task than Billy Hayes or Dick Hanley. Hanley in particular will most certainly make the effort of his life to achieve that slogan of the national gridiron:

"BEAT NOTRE DAME."

And what has Notre Dame to offer in resistance?

PREACHER CLEARED OF BEING IMMORAL

JURY OF CLERGYMEN VOTES HIM INNOCENT OF CHARGE MADE BY GIRL

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A solved of a charge of immorality. Rev. William A. Shelton was back today in his study at the Mount Vernon place Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

A jury of 12 clergymen unanimously voted him "absolutely innocent" late Thursday of accusations of misconduct toward his former secretary, Miss Clarrie A. Williams. The nature of the charge, which has been withheld during a three-day church trial in Alexandria, Virginia, was revealed by Dr. W. S. Hammond, of Martinsburg, West Virginia.

The trial committee acted while Shelton's supporters denounced the anonymous circulation to newspapers of a paper purporting to be a copy of an "apology" by the clergyman to the secretary. The incident brought from Hammond the statement that Shelton did sign a statement concerning the incident on which the specifications of the charge were based.

"But it was secured under such duress," said Hammond, "that it had no weight whatever."

Friday—the thirty-first wedding anniversary of the Kuit Shelton—about 95 per cent of his flock were ready to celebrate his vindication and begin a campaign to bring back to the fold about 200 members of the church who split when the charges were brought out publicly.

OHIO IS LEFT OUT OF AUTO TAX CONFAB

Frankfort, Ky., —(AP)—Governor Flem D. Sampson will not invite Ohio to send representatives to Kentucky, October 6th to attend a conference between Indiana and Kentucky officials in regard to motor truck license taxes.

It is possible, however, that Ohio at a later date, will be invited to meet with Kentucky officials discuss questions existing between the two states in regard to license taxes.

ALL FOR MONEY--

MAN WHO DIDN'T TRUST BANK LOSES SAVINGS AND WIFE DIVORCES HIM

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The gold standard for Harry Wheeler was more or less of a failure.

He converted his savings into gold coins, and having lost confidence in a bank, buried the money, putting $1,000 in one place and $275 in another.

Then he lost his pocketbook in which he had instructions as to where the treasure could be found in case of his death. Discovering his loss, he hurried to the caches, only to find that the $275 was gone.

Digging up the $1,000 he drove home in his car. Then he went inside his home for a few minutes. On returning to the automobile, he found the $1,000 had disappeared.

He accused his son William of taking part of the money, following which his wife, sued him for divorce.

William denied the accusation.

CONSERVATION CHIEF IS NAMED FOR OHIO

Columbus, O., —(AP)—William H. Reinhart, Sandusky, was appointed State Conservation Director Friday by State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthrey. He succeeds J. W. Thompson of Lima who leaves the office Oct. 19.

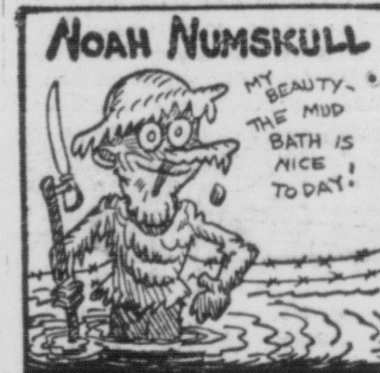

Guthrey told Reinhart to report here about Oct. 1, so that he will become wholly familiar with the duties of the office before he assumes charge. The position pays $5,000 per year.

STRIKERS ON TOUR

Reading, Pa., —(AP)—Between 200 and 300 automobiles, carrying striking hosiery workers and friends from the Dover, N. J. area, arrived here early Friday for a concerted drive to enlist the aid of hosiery workers in resisting wage reductions.

The caravan was reported, with several hundred traveling in motor buses, to number from 2,000 to 2,500 persons.
